Francis Scholl Is Granted A Parole

Francis Scholl, of Ukiah, who was convicted of the killing of George Ryan in this city, was on Saturday last granted a parole by the State Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, effective February 3 next. Mr. Scholl has employment in San Jose and will go to that city to live.

A "SHUTDOWN" REPORT FOUND WHOLLY FALSE

Story Attributed To Relief Head Lacks Verification

MILLS NOT "FIRING"

Crews Increased Following Holidays, It Is Revealed

(The Santa Rosa Republican)

"A mass shutdown in the Fort Bragg lumber yards and sawmill, with more than 400 men thrown out of work, was reported here yesterday by Roger Thomas, district manager for the state employment service.

No Real Foundation.

"While Mr. Thomas said he had received no official statement regarding the cause of the shutdown, it was believed due to a drop in lumber sales the past few months.

"Interviewers from the Santa Rosa district office will be sent to Fort Bragg Wednesday and Thursday to take applications for state employment insurance from the idle men. Placing of such a large number of men at this time was regarded as an almost impossible task by Mr. Thomas."

Story Is Incorrect.

Inquiry at Fort Bragg develops the statement purported to have been given out by Roger Thomas, of Santa Rosa, is entirely contrary to facts. The truth of the matter is that, at the very time Director Thomas, whose title is "district manager for the state employment service," gave out his story, as it appeared in The Santa Rosa Republican, instead of men being dropped off the payrolls of The Union Lumber Co. all of the men who had been off during the Christmas Holidays were being put back to work.

Repairs Are On.

As everyone acquainted with the lumber industry understands, this is the period of the year repairs to the machinery of a lumber mill plant are undertaken and, as a natural consequence, no lumber mill operates to its full capacity during such a period. It follows, logically, if

Local Businessmen Asking Damages For Old Case

As a sequel to an action brought in 1935 by the General Brewing Corporation against Ben and Sol Cohen as co-partners, Ben Cohen last week filed suit against the Brewing Company and the Pacific Indemnity Company for $850.

Lost The Case.

In the action of the Brewing Company against the Cohen brothers the judgment was that Ben and Sol Cohen were not a co-partnership. The Brewing Company was denied satisfaction and Ben Cohen was granted judgment for his costs of suit. In the new complaint Ben Cohen charges he was deprived of use of a Reo truck and trailer for 42 days because of an attachment levied by the Brewing Company and through this dispossession was forced to bear a loss of $2100. The amount sued for represents the penalty exacted by the indemnity firm.

WOULD-BE FRAUD WORKER CAUGHT

That the fight against chiselers on the old age pension fund is to be continued in Lake county, as well as here, is indicated by the fact Mrs. Ella Coster of Lakeport is to face trial on the charge she attempted to defraud the state. She is alleged to have withdrawn about $1700 from the bank prior to making her application.

Senator Geo. M. Biggar was in town a short time the first of the week from his Covelo home.

Lake County Body Is Seeking To Obtain Safeguards

LAW IS TOO LIBERAL

Plans Are To Reduce The Present Property Limit

Continued complaints are heard over frauds being perpetuated on Mendocino county by men and women who are receiving old age pensions.

Ones Aimed At.

No one has in mind removing from the pension rolls worthy recipients, but there is a general detestation for those who falsely obtain the securities of old age when they are not entitled to them.

"Tipsters" Sidestepped.

Many cases have come to the knowledge of The Republican Press of people receiving pensions who are not entitled to the relief. When these reports have come to this paper the parties supplying the information or "tips" have been instructed to take their information to the district attorney's office and lay the facts before that official.

They Are Brothers.

One of the peculiarities of the old age pension fraud charges lies in the fact Burt Busch is district attorney of Lake county and James E. Busch is the district attorney of Mendocino county. The two men are Ukiah

NEW CLASSES TO BE ADDED

Night School Offers Wood-Carving, Physical Training

A night class in physical education for young men of the community will open at the high school gymnasium tomorrow evening under direction of C. E. Christensen.

Two Meetings Weekly.

The class will meet twice a week, Monday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock. All wishing to join it should sign up with Mr. Christensen or at the high school. If sufficient interest is evidenced by older men who wish less strenuous exercise, another class will be formed for games such as volley ball.

May Learn Woodcarving.

An opportunity to learn woodcarving is also planned as another evening class, and when enough names of prospective pupils are listed at the office of Principal C. M. Fulkerson, instruction will commence.

KSRO HERALDS BENEFIT BALL

The President's ball to be held Friday evening, January 28, at the grammar school auditorium, is being publicized daily by the Voice of the Redwood Empire, KSRO radio station of Santa Rosa, on the "Time for Tea" program between 2 and 3 p.m. Mrs. Karl Davis, Ukiah chairman of the committee for the celebration of the President's birthday, received a letter from R. F. Bjorn, manager of KSRO, stating the event would continue to be heralded in this manner up to the important date. Edward A. Eversole has assumed duties of ticket chairman. Proceeds are for the benefit of those afflicted with infantile paralysis.

Mendocino County Is Growing Slowly

The population of Mendocino county, as of January 1, 1938, is estimated to be 24,500, according to California Taxpayers Association. This is an estimated increase of 995 persons, as compared with the 1930 census figures of 23,505 persons. Total population of California is estimated by the association as 6,576,251 persons.

REPUBLICAN STATE LEADERS A UNIT MERRIAM, ONLY, CAN WIN

Background Of Governor Ideal For Victory, It's Revealed

The overwhelming Democratic registration in California is not a good sign for Republican party success.

The governorship will be decided in November.

Only one Republican in the state can win the election, if he can.

That man is Frank Finley Merriam.

No one in close touch with the situation believes Governor Merriam will encounter opposition within the ranks of the party. Certainly George J. Hatfield will not contend against him. If the Lieutenant Governor is a candidate for any office, it will be the one he now holds.

Not Their Choice.

Reactionary Republican leaders do not care, particularly, for the incumbent, but, they are convinced, if Governor Merriam cannot win, no other Republican need aspire. They will accept Merriam and, in the end, will be found "plugging" for him.

Taxpayers Satisfied.

Governor Merriam's administration has been satisfactory with the people as a whole. While the national administration has been tumbling head-over-heels into deeper debt, here in California, Governor Merriam has produced a different condition. California's fiscal situation has turned rosy. From a depression low of a $30,000,000 deficit, state income has exceeded state expenditures by very substantial figures. There is even the promise of a tax reduction.

Always Businesslike.

The Governor has given the taxpayers a business administration. There have been no scandals connected with the Merriam regime and efficiency has marked its conduct. Even the bitterest enemies of Merriam concede he is a man of tremendous personality, with a cordial disposition and blessed with old-fashioned homespun honesty and integrity—That has never been questioned. In fact, through all of his 40 years of public service not once has his character or integrity been a subject of discussion.

Must Be United.

Along the line of thought The Republican Press expresses is this co-ordinating observation by that veteran political writer, William H. Jordan, of The Examiner: "Perhaps it is just as well the Republicans do not scatter their energy fighting one another in the August primary but that they put their best foot forward for a united stand against a Democrat at the November election. Considering there are something like 600,000 more Democrats registered in California than there are Republicans, it would appear the hope of the G. O. P. rests in a concerted effort behind whoever is their strongest candidate. Governor Merriam seems to be sitting prettiest for the gubernatorial nomination. While it is true he has made enemies here and there around the state he is that much of a practical politician he keeps his fences in fairly good repair. There is no loud clamoring for his scalp—at least not at present. With revenues coming in at a high rate which threatens to eliminate the state's deficit, Merriam will have the financial set-up essential for a successful campaign."

What Leaders Believe.

In San Francisco last week there gathered Republican leaders from all over the state—they were in the city to attend the funeral of Thomas F. Finn, state political chief — and after the services, as they gathered in groups and talked of the fine qualities of their dead friend and the lamentable fact no one, at the moment, was at hand to take his place, conversation reverted to the fight for the Governorship and, in every instance the conviction was "We stand a chance of winning with Merriam. We will not have a look in with anyone else."

Just One Way.

The smart thing to do is for all Republicans to unite on Governor Merriam.

Dr. G. K. Abbott reports the condition of Mrs. Ruth Hunter, daughter of R. E. Donohoe, who is ill at Ukiah General Hospital with pneumonia, as considerably improved.

PNEUMONIA IS DEATH CAUSE

Percy W. Handy Succumbs After Few Days' Illness

Following an attack of pneumonia which set in 10 days ago, Percy W. Handy died Monday night.

High Type Citizen.

With the passing of Percy Handy there went out a fine, likeable man. He was retiring, charitable and Christian-like.

Came From Pioneers.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Philo Handy, his father coming here in the early days, settled in Round Valley and there in 1874 Mr. Handy was in charge of Indian affairs for the Government.

His Ukiah Career.

Percy W. Handy for years engaged in the abstract business here and for five years past has very efficiently served as an executive officer for the city.

The Surviving Family.

Surviving Mr. Handy are his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Harry Jepson, of Petaluma, and Mrs. Lindsay Crawford, of Davis, and Mrs. Hazel Melone and Mrs. Ernest Wheleer, both of whom are residents of San Francisco.

Was Looked Up To.

As near as it can be said of any man, Percy Handy had no enemies. He had a high sense of right and wrong, he was tolerant and unostentatious. All his life he reflected the soul of honor. Mr. Handy was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church and tomorrow afternoon from that church the body will be taken, following services at two o'clock by Rev. R. A. Van der Las to Ukiah cemetery where at the graveside Masonic services will be held. Funeral arrangements are in charge of Eversole's Mortuary.

AN ANNULMENT IS NOW ASKED

Guardian Alleges In Suit His Ward Was Beguiled

Harry Miller, guardian ad litem of Hannah Marie Fraser, a minor, has filed a complaint for annulment of the marriage of his ward and Melville Fraser. The ceremony was at Reno, Nevada, November 13, 1937, and the complaint charges consent of Mrs. Fraser was obtained through fraud when the husband promised to establish a home and in other ways provide for his wife. Mrs. Fraser seeks permission to resume her maiden name of Hannah Marie Miller. All parties to the suit are residents of Fort Bragg.

Ben Hey, Millworker At Fort Bragg, Is Put In Jail

DESERTED HIS FAMILY

Agreed To Pay Bad Check Frauds, But Neglected To

Ben Hey, a former Fort Bragg mill worker, was taken into custody at Eureka last Friday and later returned to Ukiah to face the charge of violating the terms of his probation.

Caught In City.

On Sunday, December 18, 1932, Ben Hey wrote worthless checks amounting to over $200 and cashed them among Fort Bragg business houses and left town the same day, deserting his family and leaving them in destitute circumstances. Some weeks later, after he had spent his money for drink in San Francisco and had sold his car and other personal effects, he was arrested in the lobby of the Golden State Hotel when he called for mail from his wife, to whom he had written for money to return home.

Had Lived Right.

Mr. Hey is a German, 46 years old, and exceptionally well educated. He had been in the employ of the Union Lumber Company some time and had attained to a position of importance. Up to the time of writing the checks his reputation had been without fault and friends at Fort Bragg came forward in an effort to save him from the consequences.

Failed To Make Good.

Probation Officer Will Van Dyke's report was so favorable Mr. Hey was placed on probation five years, one of the provisions being he reimburse those who had cashed his checks, at the rate of $10 a week, payments to be made to Mr. Van Dyke. It is understood he has never complied with this particular provision, although employed most of the time since 1932 at good wages.

EX-PUBLISHERS ARE FACING SUIT

Mr. And Mrs. Harry Elliott Defendants In Civil Claim

WHO THEY ARE

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Elliott are former owners of The Willits News and The Sausalito News. The couple, at one time, had visions of having a string of small newspapers throughout Redwood Empire.

Suit to secure satisfaction of mechanics' lien has been started through a complaint filed by C. E. Finell of Mill Valley against the Madrone Estates Company and Harry W. Elliott as owners of the Farmhouse Inn, a resort located on the Redwood Highway 12 miles north of Laytonville.

Basis Of Suit.

Mr. Finell claims to have entered into a verbal agreement July 18, 1937, with Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Elliott, reputed owners of the resort, to supervise and perform certain carpenter work necessary to make alterations of buildings belonging to the property and to furnish additional laborers at an agreed price. The suit is to collect $1019.49 claimed due on the contract, together with labor in installing plumbing and for plumbing materials.

Claims Set Over.

E. H. Warne is joint plaintiff as plumbing contractor, whose claim has been assigned to Mr. Finell. The Madrone Estates Company with headquarters in San Francisco is alleged owner of the lands and buildings of the resort.

WILLITS, Jan. 11.—Arrangements have been completed for air conditioning Howard Memorial Hospital and the work will start shortly so it will be working properly before warm weather starts. This will be the only hospital north of San Francisco with this equipment and the new arrangement will be harmonized with the present heating equipment. Changing the air in a hospital is more important than it is in most buildings for both sanitary reasons and comfort. The hospital is once more filled to capacity and another enlargement is now in the offing.

A Masonic Night.

Willits Masonic Lodge will have a semi-public installation Saturday night. The invitation is extended to members' wives and members of the O. E. S. There will be the usual banquet and following the installation ceremony there will be dancing and cards.

Mabel Pinches and Mrs. E. Schupert were down from Laytonville Friday afternoon.

Fine Exhibit Assured.

Judge W. F. (Bill) Whitney attended a meeting of Redwood Empire Exposition Commission in San Francisco this week. Supervisor Ed. Haehl, the other Mendocino county representative, was also in attendance. The committee reports great progress as now being made and Mendocino county will have a good exhibit at the Fair. The next meeting of the commission will be held at Willits February 26 and at that time representatives of the supervisors from the nine counties in the Redwood Empire will also be in attendance to decide on some very important matters. One thing is certain: The Redwood Empire will have a splendid exhibit at the Golden Gate International Exposition.

Is Much Improved.

W. A. S. Foster came up from his home near Petaluma this week for a short visit and while here was a guest at the Fairbanks home. We are pleased to state Mr. Foster looks better and feels better than he has for several years and he is also regaining his strength.

To Bond For Sewers.

The most important matter considered by the city council at its meeting this week was that of taking preliminary steps towards calling a bond election on April 12 at which our voters will be asked to approve the issuance of $25,000 in bonds to build an additional sewer system. The southeastern part of Willits lies too low to receive proper drainage to our present system and some important changes have to be made. Last year outside engineers made the survey and drew up the specifications and practically all of the legal matters have been attended to. There appears to be no opposition to the plan which is very urgent from a health standpoint.

Stock Doing Well.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Talkington were down from their Long Valley ranch this week and report stock prospects as being excellent. They were accompanied by his brother, Will Talkington, who

Funds For Aid Are Derived From The Annual Balls

Ukiah Infantile Paralysis Committee met Thursday evening at The Palace Hotel with Mrs. Karl Davis, chairman, presiding. Mrs. Fern Busch was elected secretary-treasurer for the current year. Other members are Dr. R. B. Toller, Dr. J. J. Kirwin, Mrs. Louis Hildreth, Walter Sandelin, C. A. Bernhard, Al Pioda and Hale McCowen.

New National Fund.

Harry Carr, county chairman of Infantile Paralysis, discussed with the members purpose of the new national foundation fund. He stated the total amount in the local fund, which he turned over to the committee, was derived from President's Balls of previous years in Ukiah, now amounts to $102.88, and may be used for medical care and supplies of infantile paralysis cases only. Under the new national foundation just organized, all money derived from all President's Balls held in the United States in the future will be poured into the national fund.

Aid Available.

Any needy case of infantile paralysis in the locality of Ukiah will be reported to the Ukiah committee, which in turn will apply through Mr. Carr for aid from the National fund. From the millions of dollars in the central fund we in Ukiah may receive money, serums and even an iron lung, if emergency arises, for care of infantile paralysis victims.

Care For Mae Akers.

There followed discussion of Ukiah's little paralysis patient, Mae Akers. Responsibility for future hospitalization and care of this case falls on Mr. Carr as county chairman, and the local committee.

President's Ball.

Plans for the President's Ball to be held Friday, January 28, were discussed and the chairman and all members urged to do their share toward the national fund by supporting the affair.

A. L. RAFFETY LAID TO REST

Pioneer Educator Died At His Home Here Saturday Last

At the age of 86 A. L. Raffety, prominent oldtime educator and long a resident of Ukiah, Saturday evening at his home here laid down life's burden and on Monday was laid away to rest in Fort Bragg.

Long An Educator.

Years ago Mr. Raffety taught in Mendocino rural schools. He came here in 1883 and taught for sometime, later going to the Hawaiian islands, returning to Mendocino county from the Islands he again resumed teaching here until some 12 years ago when he retired.

The Surviving Family.

Deceased is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. Malcolm Cotter and Miss Vera Raffety. Mrs. W. W. Ware, of Fort Bragg, is a sister of Mr. Raffety, as is also Mrs. Ella C. Whisler, who for years lived in the Ukiah valley. The remains, after being prepared for burial at Eversole's Mortuary, were taken to Fort Bragg for interment.

Tight Game Here On Friday Night

Ukiah high basketball scored over U. C. 130 team 25 to 23 in an overtime period of three minutes following a tie of 21 to 21 Friday night. Preliminary game was also in the high school favor when its B team won 16 to 9 against a team composed of former B players. Friday evening's opponents will be the Covelo cagers who will come to the local gymnasium, as will Saturday's contestants from Healdsburg. Preliminary games start at 7:30 p.m.

NAMED PRESIDENT

Paul W. Poulos was named President of the Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Monday night. Mr. Poulos is one of the most progressive residents of the city.

IS ROCKPORT'S MILL TO WORK ON BIG SCALE?

San Francisco Lumber Yard Owner Reported Interested

OVERHAULING NOW ON

Plant On North Coast Being Made Ready To Cut Logs

Is the "ghost town" of Rockport to be again seen alive with men engaged in mill and logging operations?

It Seems So.

While details are hard to be had, it is evident there is destined to be activity on the north coast before long.

Men Going In

For a number of days men have been drifting into the Usal country and those going in have stated they have been directed to go there as the mill is to begin cutting, as soon as the plant, idle the past few years, can be gotten in shape.

Old Residents Elated.

The men who have been talked with are, for the most part, machinists and millwrights and, it is true, that even now, quite a force is engaged in overhauling the plant and that, at Rockport, there is an enthusiasm prevailing following apparently authentic information being given out the plant is to become productive once more.

What Is Heard.

From sources of the most reliable kind The Republican Press is informed A. H. Rounds, who is interested in operating a number of lumber yards about Pacific coast centers, is one of the principal figures in the movement to revive the Rockport mill. Mr. Rounds, whose headquarters are in San Francisco, will use the timber produced at Rockport to supply his yards and the Rockport plant will be operated to as great a capacity as the sale of timber in the Rounds yards will take care of.

Ship To Bay.

Steam schooners of the smaller type will be used in transporting the lumber from Rockport to the Bay. As this newspaper gets the story, the intention of Mr. Rounds is to get the mill started as quickly as possible. He will operate his own woods crews and will cut as extensively as the market will permit.

Had Bad Time.

Rockport suffered a setback that was pathetic. To start off with the southern lumber men who last made a failure at Rockport—They came from Mississipi—and had a fantastic method of getting out timbers and shipping them to National City, where an investment of about $500,000 was made and which, seasoned millmen say, was entirely wasted—The John A. Roebling Sons Co. afterwards purchased the site from the Finkbine-Gould Co. and used it to spin the cables for the Golden Gate Bridge. The Mississippi men came into this part of the state to operate on a big scale but seemingly overlooked the fact they had to have good shiploading conditions to take care of their mill output, which they did not have at Rockport, it being impossible to construct a dock there. After running a number of months the Finkbine-Guild people gave up the idea as a bad job and since then the big plant has been idle.

MIND PRESENCE SAVED WOMAN

All because of rubber boots on a slippery floor what could have been a very serious accident happened to Mrs. Hannah Ottoson, of Comptche, when, in turning her cows out of the barn, she slipped in one of the stails and fell, receiving severe shock and bruises and a gash on her head where a startled bossy kicked her a glancing blow. Luckily the cow remained quiet after the first kick, Mrs. Ottoson having presence of mind to lie still and not excite the animal. Her injuries were later treated by a doctor and Mrs. Ottoson is now all right again.

REDWOOD EMPIRE NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS Unit.
REDWOOD EMPIRE ASSOCIATION

AN EARNEST PLEA

THE EDITOR OF THIS NEWSPAPER, as a State Prison Director, is trying to induce Governor F. F. Merriam and Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly, to bring about formation of a prison camp on the Shoreline Highway. Warden Court Smith is sympathetic with the movement, as are the State Prison Board members. However, the effort is not making much headway at this time, but the writer is not discouraged. In the end the movement will prevail.

From the little newspaper, The Sport-News, published behind the walls of San Quentin, by the convicts themselves, this plea to have the men allowed the opportunity to work on the Shoreline Highway and rehabilitate themselves last week appeared:

"Because this is a New Year and because we are naturally optimistic at the beginning of any New Year, we would like to make a few observations regarding the citizens who are trying to establish a series of convict road camps for the construction of the Shoreline Highway in Mendocino county. The Shoreline Highway Association went on record at the annual meeting of the Association at Sonoma to seek aid through prison road camps in the building of this highway. Behind the Shoreline Highway Association is the potent Redwood Empire Association. That such groups are interested in having the prison road camps is the highest endorsement that could be given .

"The proposed stretch of road is 100 miles in length; and in many respects similar to the recently completed highway from Carmel to San Simeon. Six hundred and sixty-two San Quentin inmates participated in the southern project, which is now open to the motoring public. If the Shoreline Highway is constructed by inmate labor, it does not take much of an imagination to foresee the benefits accruing to an equal or greater number of men now within the walls. Added to the tangible benefits to the men themselves, is the opportunity the camps afford to put into effect practical segregation. Most authorities are in agreement that segregation of first offenders from older and presumably more hardened offenders is the key to the prison problem. A series of road camps are, in effect, simply a number of smaller units of the main prison, and through them can be operated a segregational plan that really works.

"The attempts to secure our honor road camps to build this highway speak well for the 20 years of service rendered to the State by this admirable penal adjunct. It also speaks well for a revised and enlightened public opinion that realizes that any man who goes to a prison road camp is benefitted both physically and morally. In this vein, it might be pointed out that there is something about getting intimately acquainted with a pick and shovel that dissolves antisocial ideas. In fact, it can be said that in the majority of instances they not only dissolve but they disappear entirely. The records of men who were sent to road camps and later paroled or discharged are free from recidivism. Placing a prisoner in a healthy outdoor environment with little or no suggestion of the prison atmosphere brings back to him his self-respect. He is placed on a "pay as you go" basis and made to earn his way by the sweat of his brow. He is allowed to earn additional time credits that help reduce his sentence. This method of dealing with prison inmates is practical, and is absolutely divorced from the many wild theories that constantly beset the public and make the man on the street wonder if it wouldn't be a good idea after all to banish all lawbreakers to remote Alaskan islands. It is also divorced from the ideas of the sentimentalists who argue that a man in prison ought to have valet and bell-hop service.

"Another commendable feature of the road camp system, and one that is not often recognized, is that it exerts a powerful incentive toward prison discipline. Clean conduct within the walls is essential to securing a road camp assignment. The overwhelming majority of inmates who have not an early parole or discharge date desire to be sent to the camps. How great has been this desire to become a road camp worker is evinced by a study of the records over a period of 20 years. In that time 20 camps have been established and 10,113 men have been sent to them.

"Thus, when we received word that the Redwood Empire Association and the Shoreline Highway Association are desirous of securing our honor camps to put through their highway project, we are made aware of the fact that even in here we can be of service to the community—of some use to the "Outside," that place to which we all look forward. And if we can return to the free world from a road camp we are a thousand times better off. The Sports-News wishes the Shoreline Highway Association speedy success in this project that will perform the two-fold function of building a highway and rebuilding men."

MASS SHUTDOWN FALSE

the saws are not cutting to capacity, the demand for logs is less and fewer woodsmen are needed, too, if the output of the plant is curtailed by repairs there is, of necessity, a decrease in manpower along all lines within the organiaztion, but that a "mass shutdown" has occurred on the coast is simply over-stating the fact.

Have Humane Policy.

The policy of the Union Lumber Company is to retain all of its men as long as possible at as full hours and high pay as the cut of lumber will permit. When it comes time to begin letting off men, married men will be retained as far as possible to provide care for families, then old, reliable employes will, of course, get preference and an effort made to see that, in dismissing men, as little damage as possible is inflicted on dependents of men who have been working in the plant. Not alone that, the Union Lumber Co. policy has been, and doubtless will be in the future, to try and spread jobs out—that is, instead of cutting down a crew, the plan has been to cut hours and try and make it possible to not cut off an income of a man entirely, but rather to give men at least enough work to make it possible for them to make both ends meet.

What Is True.

While it is very true at Fort Bragg, as it is in every other lumber mill section, conditions are not as good as one would like them to be, still they are far from being as bad as they might and there is not the least foundation for the story of a "mass shutdown."

GEARY OFFERS LAUGH MAKER

Geary To Show "Yes, My Darling Daughter" Monday

"Yes, My Darling Daughter," one of Broadway's outstanding comedy successes, comes for a three weeks' engagement at The Geary Theatre, San Francisco, Monday night, January 17, with the famous star, Florence Reed, in the leading role. This company is now on a nationwide tour, which is listed to extend to all the principal cities.

By Famous Author.

"Yes, My Darling Daughter" is the work of Mark Reed, author of "Petticoat Fever." It has had a run of nine months on Broadway, where it was hailed not only for its entertainment qualities, but undercurrent of serious comment on morals of the day.

Like Mother, Like Daughter.

It tells the story of a banker's daughter who, planning a weekend escapade with her sweetheart, is found out by her mother, who is a writer and who at one time was a leader in the feminist movement. When the mother attempts to frustrate her daughter's plan, the girl confronts her with the accusation that, in her own youth, she overstepped the bounds of conventional morality and declares what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

Insane Man On A Rampage Monday

Wm. E. Zarr, sent to the asylum recently after he had escaped from the county infirmary where he was detained temporarily and from which institution he fled, coatless, for two days remaining in the hills while the big storm raged, finally coming to Ukiah and being picked up and sent to Talmage, on Monday became violent at Talmage, knocking down an attendant and taking from him his keys, in an effort to escape. He was overpowered and taken to the criminal insane ward of the institution where he will be kept. The unfortunate man has hallucinations he is being poisoned.

HE'S COMING BACK

"Bill" Nowlin, who lived in Ukiah 60 years ago and who has since been a resident of Sherwood Valley, has come to Ukiah to again make this city his home.

INTERESTING TALKS HEARD

Northwestern Pacific Executive Aid Is Speaker Here

William S. Wollner, assistant to Edward H. Maggard, president and general manager of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company, was guest speaker at a Rotary Club luncheon at The Palace Hotel, Tuesday, and addressed the Ukiah Trade Council at its Wednesday luncheon at The Rainbow.

Told Railroad's Stand.

At the Tuesday meeting Mr. Wollner, who is well known to residents of the Ukiah Valley, took as his text the Rotary slogan of "Service Before Self" and told of the many ways in which the railroads and railroadmen are striving to emulate the example set for them by this and similar organizations. He cited the action of the eastern roads in rescue work in the floods of 1936 and 1937, and what they are constantly doing in their efforts to give "more than service" to the country and its people.

Here At Home.

The speaker called attention to the part the railroads have in providing markets for the farmers and growers of the region. He stated the nearest Northwestern siding is in reality the "front door" to 418,000 miles of track and the services of more than a million railroadmen, and that facilities are available to shippers that enable them to reach the best markets and obtain the highest returns for their year's labor.

Talked To Labor.

At Wednesday's meeting of the Trade Council ,Mr. Wollner told of the problems the roads face and of how they are attempting to overcome them. Taxes are nearly a million dollars a day; wages are over a billion and a half annually; fuel and supplies cost over nine million dollars a year. Yet the average revenue in 1936 was less than a cent a ton-mile for freight and less than two cents per passenger-mile.

Hit By Increase.

Since the peak of the business depression, prices of the things railroads buy have gone up 40 per cent; taxes have increased 25 per cent, and wages have risen 18 per cent. There are 71,386 miles of roads in bankruptcy and more companies are desperately near the brink of failure.

Stock Is Scattered.

There are three-quarters of a million stockholders, many of them women, and three and a half billion dollars of railroad securities are held by insurance companies, savings banks and in the trust funds of universities, hospitals, libraries and similar institutions, the speaker said, and all would suffer if the financial status of the roads did not improve.

What Increase Does.

Application for rate increases that would improve the road's revenues 15 per cent are now before the Interstate Commerce Commission. If the Pettingill long-and-short-haul bill is approved by the Senate it would benefit long-distance shippers as well as the roads.

A Bad Measure.

Mr. Wollner directed particular attention to the need to defeat the Train Limit Bill now before Congress. This law would prohibit more than 70 cars in a freight train and would make it impossible for the roads to continue fast and efficient transportation of this district's perishable and other agricultural products to distant markets, he said.

Makes Many Talks.

The two talks in Ukiah are part of a series that is being given by Mr. Wollner in the northwestern counties. He has since the first of the year addressed the Marin Luncheon Club, the Cloverdale Rotary Club, and the Cloverdale Chamber of Commerce. Arrangement for his appearances here were made by W. C. Van Heuit, local Northwestern Pacific representative.

Friends Boosting Him For Council

Friends of Paul Poulos have started early and are insisting he become a candidate for the city council at the next municipal election.

AT HOSPITAL

"Dick" Mazzoni has been in San Francisco most of the past week at the bedside of his wife who is convalescing.

AT BRIDGE MEETING

A. R. O'Brien left yesterday for San Francisco to attend a special meeting of the Golden Gate bride directors to be held tomorrow.

IT'S TRUE! By Wiley Padan

New York, N. Y.—"IT'S TRUE! that Randolph Churchill, son of Winston Churchill, three times defeated for a seat in England's House of Commons was visiting the 'Parnell' sets in Hollywood", says Wiley Padan. "He was impressed by M-G-M's minutely accurate reproduction of the House of Commons and was permitted to play an extra role. 'At last, a Member of Parliament!' he exclaimed.

"Another interesting fact is that one of the world's most famous theaters, Covent Garden, was recreated for the first time on a studio sound stage for scenes in John M. Stahl's 'Parnell.' Not merely an ordinary theater, but endowed with a royal charter from Queen Victoria, Covent Garden has the most interesting history of any theater in Europe. It was first built two hundred and four years ago, in 1732, twice destroyed by fire, but the present theater, built in 1858, occupies the same site."

Sidelights of Sadness

Being incidents connected with California's State Prisons as observed by A. R. O'Brien, editor of The Republican Press, who is a director of the State Board of Prisons of California.

THE "FINGERED" FELON

Gangland, outside prison, shows a "stool-pigeon" little mercy when once he is fingered. A convict who "sings," inside, becomes a lost soul. He is isolated, persecuted, relentlessly pursued. Here is a letter received by the board from an inmate at Folsom. It has not been changed, probably it has not been at all exaggerated. The desperate state of mind the writer has been thrown into is evident:

"Unfortunately I am in a peculiar circumstane here (Folsom). On September 19 last, the day of the riot, I was in the yard facing the Captain's office, and when the inmates brought the Warden out with Captain Ryan, I figured a shot fired would frustrate the whole thing, cause the inmates to run for cover and save the lives of both officials, so I yelled to the guards in the tower nearest me to shoot, not thinking anyone would object. But in two minutes there were two or three men onto me and they beat me up plenty, and the next day I received several threats. I called a guard's attention to it and asked to be allowed to remain in the Bull Ring awhile and let the heated feeling cool down, which he did.

"Now, last Monday, Captain Ryan allowed me to resume my job in the lower yard and I was glad to get to work again, but to my surprise I found that, instead of cooling off, the heat was actually spread to every inmate in the lower yard. I have received four direct threats this week, and I got two others, indirect, and I am unable to find a place to line up in either the noon lineup or the night lineup, as no one has a desire to sit next to me in the dining room. Yesterday, I was cursed and crowded off the line once and the next man told me not to line up by him again. This was at noon. Tonight, at lineup, I was told to find another spot and did, but after the line was already started in. I was thrown out of line twice and then was "cursed out" in the dining room with repeated threats of violence.

"I sincerely regret this circumstance, but I am helpless to remedy it, and due to the condition, which can easily be verified, I ask you to see if you can have me transferred to San Quentin prison ,and while awaiting the transfer I would like to be allowed to remain in the Bull Ring or the Hole (solitary), as I am expecting trouble any minute. I don't want trouble. I am not a desperado . . . so I am not going to cause the State any anxiety. My son was here November 7 and he is willing to pay my fare to San Quentin so we would not be any extra expense to the state. I am sorry I have to ask this favor of you but it is urgent—I may not last long—so I hope you will not think I am trying to impose, for I am only anxious to avoid immediate trouble."

Talk with any convict you may and he will plead for "a break." He will advocate "fair play." Rarely do you encounter one who will not whine for "mercy," but any time an unfortunate inmate is, by the convicts, even suspected of having imparted information to a prison official—of being a squealer—the offender becomes the Wandering Jew—

The mandate that first came down from heaven — "Do unto others—" inside the walls of the penitentiary for ages has been, is today and ever will be a diatribe.

LADY'S HAND GASHED

In trying to untangle a bedspread caught in a wringer she was operating, Mrs. Walter Winsby had her hand drawn into the wringer Monday and the member badly mashed. It was with difficulty the hand was gotten free of the rollers.

AT BROTHER'S BEDSIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wheeler and Mrs. Hazel Melone, of San Francisco, were here the past few days to be at the bedside of the brother of Mrs. Melone and Mrs. Wheeler, P. W. Handy, who died from pneumonia Monday evening.

VALLEY UNITES SOLIDLY WHEN APPEAL ECHOES

Case Of Unfortunate Woman Arouses Sympathy

TINY BABY CARED FOR

A Fund Raising Campaign Started For Stricken One

Special Correspondence of The Press

ANDERSON VALLEY, Jan. 10.—As always in times of trouble or sorrow Anderson Valley residents rally as one to the cause in need and at this writing the valley as a whole has responded to the appeal for help for Mrs. H. E. Bridgeford, nee Genevieve Pedro, who was taken to Silverado Sanatorium during the past weekend where she should remain several months, at least, if she is to regain her health. Vernon R. Rawles took her down Wednesday and her husband accompanied them, their six-month-old baby being cared for by Mrs. Ed Hogan at present.

People Responded.

Mrs. Bridgeford has been ill nearly a year and with the mounting expenses and the uncertainty of work it was impossible for her husband to place her in a sanatorium. Friends here started a freewill offering and the Ukiah Chapter of the American Red Cross gave $25 and within a few days enough was raised to more than pay for the first month's care at Silverado and the interest in her case became so great throughout the valley plans are under way for a benefit program for her.

To Handle Event.

Dr. Dorothy Jordt and Mrs. J. C. Edsall have charge of the program and Mrs. D. H. Van Zandt is business manager; it will be given January 22 in the County Fair Auditorium in Boonville and plans include a musical program, "The Wedding of Jack and Jill," by pupils from Anderson and Con Creek schools, followed by an intermission in charge of the Young People's Society of the Methodist church who will conduct a fish pond and other moneymaking booths. The second half of the program will be "The Follies of 1938," by the men of the valley. This should be thrilling. Dancing will complete the night's program and proceeds will go towards keeping Mrs. Bridgeford in Silverado until she regains her health. Even the school children are anxious to help and those not taking part in the program are helping in some other way. The Indian Creek school is making decorations needed for the stage and Shields school is making the tickets which will sell at 10, 25 and 35 cents, and everyone is enthused and happy to be able to do their bit.

Mother Is Dead.

James Peterson received the sad news of the death of his mother, Mrs. Duffy, in San Francisco Friday. Funeral plans are not complete but the services will likely be in Little River Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Eckman, of Santa Rosa, arrived Saturday evening to attend the obsequies. Mrs. Eckman is a granddaughter; others are Mrs. Ralph Witherell, of Philo, and Mrs. Herbert Witherell, of Vallejo. John Peterson, of this place, is a grandson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Slotte, Miss Jeanne Slotte and Bobby Slotte and Mrs. Edith Busch were recent visitors in Eureka where they were guests of Mrs. Reinholtsen, sister of Mrs. Busch and Mrs. Slotte.

Mrs. Ernest Ridley suffered a badly burned arm while about her household duties Saturday morning.

Will Of Little River Woman Bequeaths Her Property

The holographic will of Emily Etta Pullen has been filed for probate by Mark Dana Gray of Fort Bragg. The will is dated December 16, 1935, and nominates the petitioner and Howard W. Gray as executors; the latter has waived his rights to appointment.

Mrs. Pullen died at her Little River home December 10 and left an estate, worth $9000, in real and personal property. Heirs and beneficiaries of the will are Mrs. Annie Babcock of Willits, a sister of deceased, and a large number of nephews and nieces living in widely separated districts of the United States. Hearing of the petition is set for January 21.

boys and are brothers and to the credit of each of them it can be said they are making an honest effort to enforce the law, always bearing in mind really meritorious cases of old-age pensioners should not be interfered with in any manner.

Would Tighten Up Law.

Striking at the evil in a new way the Lake county grand jury last week passed the following resolution drawn up by the legislative committee of that body: The recommendation suggests persons eligible for pensions should not have property in excess of $1500 assessed valuation and anyone receiving such pension should deed all his property to the county before receiving any money also, such persons must not deed or give away property within three years prior to applying for pensions, except to the county.

Keep Legislature Informed.

The legislative committee of the grand jury in drawing up the above recommendation did so with full knowledge the county, under the present law cannot abide by such a recommendation, but copies will be sent to the legislature so the state body will be informed the present state law is unsatisfactory in Lake county.

Are Selling Tickets.

Tickets for the President's Ball in Ukiah are on sale at Farrer's Store, and Prof. J. H. Decater has "student's" tickets for sale at the high school.

George Fenton, of Mt. View, Oregon, is here for a month's visit with his mother, Mrs. Mary Fenton. This is his first visit here in the past seven years. He is employed on a railroad construction project in Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler Brinegar, of Point Arena, were recent guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. J. W. Rawles, while enroute to San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Brinegar recently moved from Ukiah to the coast.

A COVELO GIRL WEDS IN UKIAH

Miss Marjorie Caldwell Is Wife Of Dennie Willis

Special Correspondence of The Press

VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

This community was shocked Sunday when a message came from Yellowstone Park, Montana, to Mr. and Mrs. Will Rhoads, announcing the death of their son, Judson, by being accidentally shot. The body is being sent to Covelo for burial. Judson Rhoads was born and resided in Covelo. He is survived by his wife and two children, the parents and two sisters, Mrs. Naomi Norton, of Hughson, and Mrs. Ruby Coke, of Juneau, Alaska. He had recently visited his parents and other relatives and friends here and had been home but a short time. No further particulars of the accident are available.

COVELO, Jan. 10.—E. M. Wolf, of the soil conservation project, was in the valley last week distributing U. S. Treasury checks to the farmers who have enrolled in this project, for more legumes and less grain.

Had Delightful Visit.

The Henry Vance family have lately enjoyed a visit from Mr. Vance's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reed and their daughter, Verlene, of Sanford, Colorado. The visitors returned by way of Los Angeles and Yuma, at which places they visited other relatives.

Son Seriously Sick.

Leon Terry came in from Mina, Sunday, to bring his son Marion in for reopening of high school. Mr. Terry remained until Thursday to assist in caring for his son Easton who was suffering congestion of the lungs. Easton, who has been employed on the J. I. Hurt ranch, was moved Monday to the home of his aunt, Mrs. Leslie Dunlap, and at this time is improving steadily.

Fogs Were Heavy.

Heavy fogs have enveloped the valley for about 10 days hiding the sun until well after noon, sometimes as late as 2 p. m. Most of the time these fogs have reached up to the tops of the surrounding foothills, but even so on many mornings there was no fog in Poor Man's Valley.

Club Activities.

Covelo clubwomen, always active, are more than usually so at this time. The annual Hi-Jinks, for women only, will be held in American Legion Hall, Saturday, January 15, at 7:30 p. m. A cordial invitation is extended to all women to attend—but they must appear in comic costume. This affair, beginning with the organization of the club in 1927, has become an annual institution and is always well attended. After the Hi-Jinks the next big club event will be the annual Cemetery Benefit dance to be held February 12. Further particulars will be announced later.

The First '38 Meeting.

The first Club meeting of 1938 was enjoyed on New Year's day at the Senator Geo. M. Biggar home. A short business session, and a social hour with tea, cookies and hot rolls served by the hostess were the high lights of the afternoon.

A Worthy Training.

Mrs. Charlotte Ehling, P. H. N., announces a class in Home Hygiene and the care of the sick, under the sponsorship of the Red Cross and conducted by Mrs. Ehling. This very worth while study begins Wednesday and is open to the public. The classes will meet Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 for about 12 weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Johnson are at home again after passing the holidays with relatives in Ukiah, San Francisco and Piedmont. They report a delightful vacation.

Milo Cummins, from the mountains to the east, was a Covelo visitor Saturday.

Mrs. Grace Foster has gone to San Francisco for an extended stay, during which time she will visit her son and wife and other relatives and friends.

Married In Ukiah.

A wedding of much interest to Round Valley was solemnized at Ukiah Friday night when Miss Marjorie Caldwell became the bride of Dennie Willis. Both contracting parties belong to the faculty of the Laytonville school and both are well known here. Mrs. Willis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Caldwell, formerly of Covelo, and is a graduate of the local high school. She is also a graduate of the Chico Normal. Mr. Willis has taught in this community for several years, at Mina and Red Hill, and is now principal at Laytonville. A host of Covelo friends wish this excellent couple all the happiness and success they so richly deserve.

COUNTY ASKS FOR 2 TITLES

Property Of Deceased Persons Would Be Possessed

Two petitions have been filed by Mendocino county to terminate life estates in two parcels of land conveyed to the county by deed, the owners and conveyors having died during the past year. The deed of Jacob Lane, also known as Jacob Kuala, is for 40 acres of land conveyed to the county January 30, 1931; Jacob Lane died August 11. The deed of C. W. Schilling, dated August 6, 1930, conveys to the county 20 acres; Mr. Schilling died December 14, 1937. The petitions ask to have the fact of death established in each instance, an appraiser appointed and title of the properties vested in the county.

Named Judges Who Will Preside Here

An order of the Judicial Council of California has assigned Hon. Benjamin C. Jones of Lake county, Hon. Harry W. Falk of Humboldt county, Hon. Hilliard Comstock and Hon. Donald Geary of Sonoma county to sit as judges of superior court of Mendocino county during 1938, as the need arises.

LANDMARK GONE

The home of the late Sam Wattenberg, near Cold Creek, was destroyed by fire at noon Thursday. The cause of the fire is not known. The residence was a large one and erected some 40 years ago. The loss was complete. The fire not only burned the house but the water tower and tank as well, thus cutting off a water supply. Neighbors attracted to the scene fought the fire, using a bucket brigade and getting water from Cold creek and thus preventing a spread of the flames.

Point Arena School Will Cost $52,000

For a second time A. O. Lightford, of Upper Lake, has been low bidder for construction of the new Point Arena high school. Mr. Lightford's bid was $52,002. The first call for bids included furnishings for the new school, and the figure submitted was $57,000. It was decided to take care of the furnishings later and the bid on the building has therefore been reduced $5000. Contractor Lightford built the Willits high school and the Covelo high school gymnasium.

IS IMPROVING

Ed. Layman came home Wednesday evening after having been in San Francisco immediately following the operation performed on his daughter, Mrs. Richard Mazzoni, at Stanford-Lane Hospital Wednesday. Mr. Layman stated Mrs. Mazzoni would probably have to be in the hospital a number of weeks.

TELLS OF TRAVEL AND TYPHOONS ON WAY FROM CHINA

An exciting itinerary, starting in the interior of China, including Manila, Malay, India, Egypt and Europe and ending in New York last Saturday, has been followed by Mrs. Ralph E. West, nee Beth Yeager and formerly of Ukiah, and her son, Marshall Crawford West. A letter written at Rome and just received by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie E. Crawford, continues with interesting highlights since those given in a letter from the Orient, which we published a few weeks ago. We are delighted to be able to continue the chronicle with excerpts from the last message:

"December 17.—Here we are in Rome. It is a long way from Shanghai and about the same distance to San Francisco. I had planned to write you from the President Adams enroute, but Ralph (the writer's husband, Major West) has been sending cards and so I have just let it slide. We have thought of you many times and know you both would enjoy this wonderful trip.

"We left Manila on the 13th of November. The day the Adams was supposed to get in, Manila had a terrible typhoon. Sonny and I were caught in it at the pier where the ship was to dock. Lights were out, telephones gone and no mode of transportation available, so we had to spend the night aboard the Coolidge tied alongside the dock. It was rather frightening seeing large trees uprooted and blown down the street, but after a bad night of blowing the sun came out bright and clear. We were at the dock when the Adams came alongside (bearing Major West from Shanghai) and it was a grand reunion after five long anxious months.

"Our stop at Singapore was interesting. We met people we had known in Shanghai and were royally entertained. Saw the Sultan's Palace of Jahore, a rubber plantation and tea factory. Sonny swam in the wonderful Singapore Swimming Club pool. The weather was quite warm and we were glad to get aboard the ship, get under way and feel a good sea breeze.

"Colombo was delightful. We made a 130-mile drive to Kandy. Saw real elephants working in the jungle. Saw them take baths in the rivers. Sonny was photographed on two of them. Began to see East Indians and their temples.

"Bombay, the gateway to India, was a wonderful sight. Beautiful buildings and the worst slums in the East. All kinds of precious stones. Saw the snake charmers, snake and mongoose fight, and lots of beautiful brass.

"Then nine long days on the boat and finally Suez where we disembarked. We left the ship at 11 p. m. and rode across the Sahara in cars to Cairo. Arrived at 2 a. m., went to bed, were awakened at 5:30 a. m. and driven to the Pyramids, our last mile was by camel, to see the sunrise. That was the most impressive sight of the whole trip. It was simply beyond description. We saw the Sphinx and the Pyramids and climbed inside the largest one to see the tomb. Breakfasted at the Mena House at the foot of the Pyramids and then back to Cairo.

"This city is fascinating and I hope we can return some day to spend a few months. It's gay—not too hot nor too cold — the people interesting and well behaved the shops unusual—the River Nile running through the city, and thousands of minarets where Mohammedan priests call to the Mohammedans to pray at night and in the morning. That evening we saw the night life. First the Egyptian side and then the European. The next morning we visited the museum where they have King Tut and all of his relics. At noon we took a train for Alexandria.

"Our next stop, and final one from the boat, was Naples. On our way we saw the famous Mountain Stamboli in eruption with red hot lava flowing down the sides. Captain Bauer of the Adams invited Ralph and me up on the bridge to see the entrance to the Bay of Naples and Mt. Vesuvius. We arose at 4 a. m. and saw it all before dawn. A glorious sight and one long to be remembered.

"Arrived in Naples and started sight-seeing at 9 a. m. Went to the top of Mt. Vesuvius, walked across the old crater to the new one then down the mountain to a small hotel where we had lunch The afternoon we spent in Pompeii and I could scarcely get Sonny away from there.

"Now in Rome, from here to Florence, Venice, Milan, Berlin, Potsdam, Paris, then Havre, where we catch the S. S. Washington on December 30 for America. This is rather a jumbled letter but did want you to know that we were on our way home.

We are going to Norfolk, Virginia, first and from there we aren't sure. This will be too late for a Merry Christmas, but a Happy New Year to you both and we hope to see you in 1938.

"Lots of love, Ralph, Betty and Sonny."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Talkington, prominent ranchers of the south end of Long Valley, were in town Wednesday.

FINE BARITONE SOLOIST AT S. A. C. PROGRAM

Past presidents of the Saturday Afternoon Club entertained members and guests numbering 75 at a delightful musicale January 8, with Everett Nygaard, of San Francisco, baritone, presenting a variety of charming selections. Accompanist was Mrs. O. F. Williams, talented director of Business and Professional Women's Choral of San Francisco. Songs were "Hear Me, Ye Winds And Waves," Handel; "Nina," Pergolese; "Eri Tu" (Masked Ball), Verdi; "Myself When Young" (Persian Garden), Lehman; "Mattinatta," Leoncavallo; "Avant de Quitter ces Lieux" (Faust), Gounod; "Evening Star" (Tannhauser), Wagner; "Fur Musik," Franz; "Thy Beaming Eyes," McDowell; "Shoes," Manning; "Land No Degradashun" (Swamp Song), McGimsey. Mr. Nygaard is a radio and concert singer with a most pleasing personality which, added to his splendid voice, assures him a brilliant musical career. The club is indebted to Dr. Susan Harris Hamilton, of San Francisco, sister of Mrs. G. W. Stout and Mrs. Ida L. Brown, for securing the guest artist.

Mrs. A. L. Tracy, as program chairman, deserves much credit for the charming entertainment of the afternoon. Other past presidents there to assist her were Mesdames J. H. Hansen, Guy Redwine, Werner Holzhauser, Olive E. Busch, C. A. Bernhard, G. W. Stout, E. W. Dutton, Louis M. Hildreth, Ida L. Brown, J. A. Jamison, Hale McCowen, Jr., W. D. L. Held, M. A. Eglin.

Refreshments were served in the south room where 12 tables were ingeniously decorated to represent the whole cycle of the year. That representing January was centerpieced by a snowman; February with patriotic motif honoring Washington and Lincoln; March held a large shamrock and huge Irish potato shaped like an animal; April, an Easter bunny; May a basket of roses; June, a wedding cake with tiny bride and groom; July, fire crackers; August, vacation camping equipment with auto and trailer; September, grapes and other fall fruits; October, a Halloween pumpkin; November, a Thanksgiving turkey; and December a jolly Santa Claus. Hostesses arranging this attractive scheme were Mesdames C. A. Bernhard, J. C. Hurley, Athol Horr, Ferdinand Faas and A. R. O'Brien.

RECIPROCAL DINNER

The 20-30 Club will entertain members of Rotary and Lions Clubs at dinner February 4 at the Saturday Afternoon Club rooms. Speaker of the evening is to be N. J. L. Piper, special agent in charge of Bureau of Investigation at San Francisco. His talk will be part of the campaign for civilian finger printing, about which he will speak at the local schools earlier in the day. The host club has invited the other business men's clubs as a gesture of appreciation for a similar event last year when 20-30 members were entertained by them. Chairman of arrangements is Kenneth Busch.

WEEKEND GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Vassar and infant son James, Jr., of San Francisco, arrived Friday to pass the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Elliott and Miss Violet Elliott, parents and sister of Mrs. Vassar. Miss Ardis Vassar, who is attending San Francisco State College, accompanied them and visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Gielow. Saturday afternoon the visitors drove north of Laytonville to visit Mr. and Mrs. Fred Redemeyer, parents of James A. Vassar and Miss Ardis Vassar.

PIONEER DAYS WERE FEATURED AT B. P. W. C. MEET

Pioneer days were realistically brought before 78 members of Business and Professional Women and guests Thursday night when they held their dinner meeting at the Canton room of The Palace Hotel. Coal oil lamps, polished and gleaming, lighted the long tables, fruit and cake dishes and Majolica and pressed glass held their contents high in colorful decoration, and old-fashioned silver casters proudly displayed cruets and condiments. Hostesses in charming dress of a few generations ago greeted those entering the room. Mrs. Ardis Roberts, chairman, wore black jet trimmed cape over a black gown, with a plum colored velvet bonnet topped by saucy plumes. Mrs. Melissa Carpenter looked very much as though she had stepped from the frame of an old-fashioned tintype, so perfectly was she costumed. Hair parted at center and drawn smoothly back at the sides, high lace ruching around her neck, black jacket, sparkling with jet, over tight bodice and full skirt, and hands gloved in black lace, except for finger tips, were details of the portrait.

The old-fashioned organ, belonging to Mrs. Jane Gibson, was played by Mrs. Susan Neep, who wore a lovely figured gown of pink velvet, graced by sprays of forget-me-nots. Mrs. Charlotte King was gowned in a becoming frock of rose and cream, ruffled and fluted. Mrs. Mabelle Hirsch and Miss Louise McDonald completed the committee.

When each place had been found by means of silhouette cards, all sang "Auld Lang Syne." About an old-time home fireside was acted an early home scene. Mr. and Mrs. Ukiah Pioneers were introduced and, while chatting, told much of the happenings of their day. Mrs. Bess Jamison, with flowing mustachios and men's clothes of the period, cleverly impersonated the head of the household, reading from a Dispatch-Democrat dated 1857 on through the century in a composite of news notes. Mrs. Katherine Foster rocked quietly, using an Armadillo basket for her spools and patch quilt pieces and as she stitched commenting from time to time on various events.

What excitement when the first general store was opened back of the present Cecille Hotel! In 1859 publication of bids for the courthouse were made and given at $6000 (at which the mother remarks, "Dear! dear! I suppose taxes will be going up.") When the courthouse was completed with furnishings it cost $9000. In 1862 the flour mill run by the city at Calpella was moved to Ukiah and steam power used. John Short and A. T. Perkins erected the first school building and donated it to the public in 1858. It was decided streets running east and west would be named after pioneers and north and south after native trees and shrubs. In 1870 the tax rate was one-fourth of one per cent on $100.

Later, when Grace Carpenter was still in school, announcement was made she had won a prize from a San Francisco art school for the best crayon drawing from a plaster cast. She eventually became internationally known for her pictures.

There were stage holdups from time to time and finally the building of a railway. Completing the home setting were a wall motto, spinning wheel, a garland of bright flowers made of feathers by an ancestor of Mrs. Roberts and framed, a clock owned by Mrs. Seth Williams which has told time for over a century, a copy of The Saturday Evening Post of 1846, a peacock feather duster with quills woven into a handle, displayed by Miss Louise McDonald, beautiful old hooked rugs, a quilt, and many old pictures of the city fathers, including a group of the first town board of trustees in 1872, comprising J. R. Moore, R. N. Willing, Samuel Orr, T. L. Carothers and Dr. E. W. King. Photos passed about the tables showed the town in the board walk and horse and carriage days. One of Standley and School streets showed "D. D. Beatty, Photograph Gallery" where Esther's Dress Shoppe now stands, a lowly structure in place of the Savings Bank of Mendocino County, with the Christian church towering in the background, and but a small house where The Press building now stands. A photo of a Firemen's Ball showed Ben Edwards and Neal Anker in the foreground; another of an early Ukiah baseball team included M. M. Carothers, Ches Montgomery, Oscar A. Sanford as captain and F. H. Van Allen. One of Orr's Springs showed the large old-time buildings. P. B. Westerman was shown standing on the steps, among the pupils, of the then small local grammar school, of which he was principal. There were pictures of Ben Edwards' Meat Market, Hofman's store, The Palace Hotel with pillar supported balcony.

"Long, Long Ago" was sung in unison and then Daryl Lynch carried his listeners to the age of sentimentality by singing "Dear Old Girl." "Susie," a squaw with blue checkered bandana over her head, shawl and brightly figured dress, and carrying a papoose doll strapped in a basket to her shoulders, was called upon to dance. Without accompaniment, she stamped her bare feet, turning from side to side in a few rhythmic steps, which she encored after hearty applause. Mrs. George Miller played the part of "Susie," maintaining the stolid pose throughout the evening. Mrs. Grace Holzhauser exhibited an old-fashioned German music box with a repertoire of 10 tinkling tunes.

Mrs. Mary Milne, of Talmage, first white child born in the valley and who will celebrate her eightieth birthday tomorrow, sent greetings to the club which were voiced by Mrs. Olive E. Busch. Mrs. Dora Mankins and Mrs. Alpha Lane, descendents of early settlers, were special guests who spoke briefly of early days here. Mrs. Lena Whittaker, of Potter Valley, to whom belonged many of the pictures, was also a guest.

Charles M. Mannon, guest speaker, was introduced as a member of one of the fine old pioneer families. He told in vivid style of homely incidents the rapid growth of this empire, his address being greatly enjoyed by the large audience of intent listeners.

At the short business meeting which followed Mrs. Leila Vevoda reported on activities of the Christmas Cheer committee, and $5 was voted to be given the Mae Akers fund. The next meeting will be a gentlemen's evening held at the Community Clubhouse, Wednesday, January 19, instead of the usual Thursday. Each member may invite one couple.

HAD DINNER GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Dougherty had as guests for dinner Wednesday evening at their home in West Perkins street, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Phinney. During the evening hours a number of games of contract were enjoyed.

VISITORS FROM WILLITS

Miss Flora De Camp, Miss Ellen De Camp and Ed De Camp came from their home in Willits to call on a number of friends here Friday afternoon.

C. M. MANNON TELLS EARLY DAY HISTORY OF THE UKIAH VALLEY TO THE B. & P. W. CLUB MEMBERS

At the Business and Professional Women's Club meeting Thursday evening Charles M. Mannon was introduced as guest speaker and from his store of anecdote and history gleaned from study of records, tales told by pioneer neighbors during his boyhood and observation since, gave a most interesting account of growth and development of this section of California. Taking as an introduction the date of 1829 when Charles Dana started from Boston for San Francisco and told about it in "Two Years Before The Mast," the first written account of California in English, the speaker spoke of the country at that time. In 1831 there were no more than six Anglo-Saxon women in California, and just one Anglo-Saxon man in San Francisco. Today, in a little over 100 years, as one travels down the Redwood Highway, passing over Richardson's Bay on a bridge to Sausalito, they cross the body of water named after that man. Charles Dana encountered a Russian brig manned by Russians. All other inhabitants were Spanish and Indians. The thickly populated cities one now sees about the bay and in the valleys were built in less than a century.

Forty-five years after Charles Dana's visit Ukiah was heard of. About 1850 the first Anglo-Saxon family, that of A. T. Perkins (from whose family the speaker culled much of his information) came in by ox team. There was a squatter; named Parker, who had started to build a log cabin at what is now the corner of Main and Perkins streets and who sold out to the Perkins family. Through "vision and faith" a forge, anvil and complete set of blacksmith tools were brought by Mr. Perkins, though there were no people and no iron here. The then four-year old Perkins daughter grew up here and became the mother of Postmaster Earl Perkins Thurston. J. H. Hughes arrived at Ukiah soon after the Perkins family and later Frank Perkins married his daughter. Mr. Mannon lived across the street from these pioneers.

It was stated Walter Sandelin, head of the hotel where the club meeting was being held, owns land by virtue of a pardon from the king of Spain, origin of title to all land in Ukiah valley. Cayetano Juarez, 120 years ago a lieutenant in the Spanish army stationed at Monterey and youngest commissioned officer there, was left in charge of the post while the rest of the officers attended a meeting at the Presidio of San Francisco. He was left without a fund for the payroll, requiring one peso per month per man, and when the second payday passed the men planned to execute him. However, he reasoned with them until six soldiers were sent to accompany him to San Francisco. At San Jose they took the wrong road, going up the east side of the bay instead of the road leading past "the tall tree" at "Palo Alto." Seeing their mistake the seven men paddled across the bay on a log. All were sentenced for desertion, the soldiers executed and word sent the king of Spain asking for disposition of Juarez, a nobleman. In due time the reply came court-martial had been correct but, instead of executing Juarez, who meanwhile languished in the juzgado, he was to be banished to the lands of the "unchristianized Indians" and was granted 20,000 Spanish leagues of land in the valley to be known as the Yokayo valley. After the war with Mexico, California and other lands were ceded to the United States by the treaty of Guadelupe Hidalgo in 1848, with the exception of the grants made by the Spanish king. A court of claims was set up and patents to lands adjusted.

Mr. Mannon told how his parents came from stock emigrating from Scotland about 1650 to found Belfast in Ireland, later making an exodus from Ireland in 1740 to America, between 1790 and 1810 one branch beginning a trek across the mountains to Ohio and Mississippi valleys and another southwest through Virginia. In 1881, when Mr. Mannon was a very small boy, he arrived with his parents at the end of the railroad in Cloverdale. From there the stage trip to Ukiah along the river took seven hours. They stayed at the Ukiah House, outside of which Abner Hagans, proprietor, would daily stand and swing an immense bell at noon. B. S. Hirsch of the Cecille Hotel soon added the stentorian sound of a huge gong which he imported in the way of competition, and the two clanged away in concert. The census of 1880 showed there were 400 people and 27 saloons. Today there are 3000 people and 47 places where liquor is sold.

The First National Bank building was erected in 1876, and though now modernized, is essentially the same structure. The I. O. O. F. hall was built in 1882. The Crystal Pharmacy is on the site of W. A. Hofman's Emporium, which was built in 1881 and where everything, including drugs, was sold. The Blue Wing Saloon stood where Gardner's Cafe now is, and there was a blacksmith establishment where The Palace Hotel addition has been built. The Grand Hotel, Charles Hofman's store and B. Marks' establishment were other buildings mentioned.

Land of the valley was occupied by settlers, who had no idea it was a grant, from 1855 on. Lack of surveying at the time accounts for extremely irregular boundary lines. Just before the Civil War, about 1860 or 1861, an enterprising firm of lawyers, comprising Hastings, Curry and Carpentier, who made a specialty of hunting Spanish grants and having them confirmed, found Juarez, an old man, living with Indians in Sonoma valley and bought his holdings for $500. When the people living here found they would have to buy the land they were indignant at the "exorbitant" price asked of $1 an acre, and some moved to Potter Valley and other places where they would not have to pay.

William Doolan, agent for the lawyers, was given Vichy Springs and Judge McGarvey, also active in the firm, retained unsold lands in Ukiah.

Such a thing as a Business and Professional Women's Club was unheard of. In fact, aside from the proprietors of the Morrison & Pressley Millinery Store, a few school teachers and girls who waited on table at the hotels, there were no women in business. Even in the schools there was always a man to keep order, as some of the pupils reached their twenties before graduating from the grammar school, because of much outside work.

The first day L. W. Babcock, father of Dr. Raymond A. Babcock of Willits, came to regulate discipline as principal, following unsuccessful attempts of his predecessor, Mr. Mannon found him sitting on four big boys who thought to "run him out."

Ukiah was chosen as county-seat over Calpella by five votes. In the early 70's the town was incorporated under the name of "The Town of Ukiah City." In '92 Mr. Mannon held his first job as president of the water works. In '94 it was voted to bond the town for a sewer system. This required a seal, and the committeeman assigned to design it had many a laugh over its whimsical imagery. The upper curve of the circular seal was rimmed with "The Town of Ukiah City," the lower with "Acquirite et Tenete," meaning "acquire and hold" and derived from the philosophy during the depression of the time, "To get all you can and keep it." For an emblem in the center he thought his blue Russian terrier, a freakish looking animal that seemed to have curly blue wool rather than fur, was as peculiar to Ukiah as anything could be, and forthwith the elder Judge Mannon had the dog photographed by Charles M. Mannon, his son, for this purpose.

RETURNED FROM SALINAS

Mrs. A. L. Wessels has returned from Salinas where she was a holiday guest at the home of her son, Dr. Arthur Lynn Wessels.

Mark Seaver, head of the Seaver Motor Co., was a business caller in San Francisco Wednesday.

20-30 CELEBRATE FOUNDING AT LADIES' NIGHT

The anniversary of the founding of the 20-30 Club was celebrated at a dinner-dance by the local chapter in the Canton room of The Palace Hotel Monday evening at a delightful ladies' night. Since its origination in Sacramento the club has spread as far east as Ohio and Texas boasts one of the largest number of representative units. Simultaneous celebration was held by all members throughout the country in accordance with the program outlined by the national secretary. Arranging the festivities was the newly elected board of trustees.

Officers for the year were elected at the regular dinner meeting of the previous week and are as follows: Bob Gianonni succeeding Harley Branson as president; John Frassinello, vice-president; Frank Branson, secretary-treasurer; Carl Daubeneck, sergeant-at-arms; Harley Branson, Kenneth Busch, Roy Hewitt, Les Stanley and Bob Harmon, board of directors. Past presidents conducting installation ceremonies were Wayne P. Burke, Pete Simoncini, Jack Goudge, Ferdinand Valette and Dr. R. D. Withrow.

GUESTS FROM OAKLAND

Mrs. Kathryn Parker enjoyed entertaining her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Morton McDonald of Oakland, during the holiday. They returned to their home soon after New Year's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Munson were down from Willits on business Wednesday.

WED DAUGHTER OF PROMINENT WILLITS FAMILY

Miss Jessie Bittenbender and Leonard Ladd were united in marriage Saturday at an informal ceremony performed by the Rev. Father Kelley at St. Benedict's church, Berkeley. The bride was attended by Mrs. Walter Bushline, a sister of Mr. Ladd; and Stuart Collbran, brother-in-law of the bride, performed a similar service for the groom.

After the ceremony guests gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Collbran in Kensington Park for the wedding lunch. The living room was beautifully decorated with white and yellow chrysanthemums, while in the dining room elaborate bride's and groom's cakes lent ornamental interest.

The lovely bride was married in her going away costume of navy blue and pearl gray sheer wool, with gay accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid with lilies of the valley. Mrs. Duane Bittenbender, mother of the bride, wore a black afternoon dress brocaded in royal blue, with a corsage of cape jassmine. Mrs. L. E. Ladd, mother of the groom, wore a black afternoon dress embroidered in silver, while her corsage was also of cape jassmine.

Mrs. Ladd is the attractive daughter of Supervisor and Mrs. Duane Bittenbender, of Willits. She graduated from Willits high school and attended schools in Berkeley and Oakland. For the past two years she has been living in San Francisco. Mr. Ladd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ladd, of Hollister, and since graduating from the University of Santa Clara, with the class of 1934, has been in buisness with his father.

After a honeymoon in southern California the young couple will make their home in Hollister where a new home is being built for them.

ELVIRA VIARENGO WEDS

Miss Elvira Viarengo became the bride of Mario Venturi, Saturday. Miss Esther Torchio, of Oakland, was bridesmaid and Guido Venturi, best man, with Louis Viarengo usher.

The bride was attired in a grey traveling suit with wine colored accessories and wore a corsage of gardenias. The bridesmaid was dressed in a suit of turquoise blue and carried a pink bouquet.

Following the ceremony, witnessed by immediate members of the families, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Harry Pesaro, the table, attractively decorated in white and pink, was centered with the bride's cake adorned with a miniature bride and groom. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Mario Venturi, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Viarengo, Mr. and Mrs. E. Venturi and son Guido, Mrs. D. Comino, Mr. and Mrs. A. Garzini and son Louis, Mr. and Mrs. John Torchio, daughter Esther and son, Lloyd, of Oakland, Miss Dorothy Varsella, of Albany, Miss Norma and Louis Viarengo and the hosts. Following a honeymoon the young couple will make their home in Ukiah.

CIRCLE C

Mrs. Arthur Bradley entertained Circle C of Federated Methodist Women Wednesday last. After a busy afternoon of sewing the ladies were served dainty refreshments.

JOBS DAUGHTERS INSTALLED AT LOVELY RITES

Jobs Daughters presented a charming pageant to their friends with installation exercises at Masonic Hall Monday evening when Virginia Smith received the purple robe of Honored Queen from Jean Thornton. Assisting installing officer Retiring Honored Queen Jean Thornton were Past Honored Queens Betty Brazier, Ethel Anker and Lorraine Mankins, and Honorary member Virginia Jameson. Piano accompaniments to ritualistic procedure were played by Mrs. Crystal Harp. Mrs. Walter Jamison was Reader. Tiny Carol May Mitchell, frocked in yellow, stood upon a pedestal banked with woodwardia and resurrection lilies, as she held the book of gold and the gilded quill for inscription of signatures.

More than two score members of the Bethel were present in white Grecian robes, carrying bouquets of white and orchid sweet peas. Honored Queen and Princesses wore purple capes, gold embroidered, and crowns, and the Celestial Choir was distinguished by purple mortar boards with silken tassels. The group seemed to symbolize purposeful youth, dignified and lovely.

Entering office were Virginia Smith, Honored Queen; Hazel Sanford, Senior Princess; Irene Sandelin, Junior Princess; Christine Smith, Guide; Kathleen Thurston, Marshal; Kathleen Davis, Chaplain; Barbara James, Librarian; Lorraine Hurley, Treasurer; Carol Kasch, Musician; Barbara Scott, Recorder; Barbara Conley, Junior Custodian; Barbara Mustard, Senior Custodian; Margaret Lowe, First Messenger; Ermine Leonard, Second Messenger; Nadine Frahier, Third Messenger; Roberta Dahlstrom, Fourth Messenger; Bernice Millard, Fifth Messenger; Mary Dale Folsom, Inner Guard; Betty Purdy, Outer Guard; and a Celestial Choir of 14.

Retiring Honored Queen Jean Thornton was presented a lovely pin significant of her office by her successor, Virginia Smith, both making appropriate addresses. Musical tributes given by talented little Shirley Richards were two lovely violin solos, with piano accompaniment by her mother.

Installation of the Guardian Council included placing Mrs. Leta Thornton in the office of Guardian for the second time. Edward W. James was made Associate Guardian; Mrs. Hazel Harmon, Guardian Secretary; Mrs. Ellen Scott, Director of Music; Mrs. Gertrude Folsom, Guardian Treasurer; and Mrs. Lillian Hurley, Mrs. Cora Sandelin, Mrs. Fern Busch and Mrs. Freda Ford took posts on the Associate Council.

A complete and delightful surprise to Jean Thornton, Retiring Honored Queen, was recognition of her birthday which came on the date of installation. In the center of a cleverly designed cake, lighted by candles, adorned with flowers, and presented the honoree by Dorothy Harp, was a dainty gift of perfume.

Completing the order of the evening were two pleasing piano solos by Carol Kasch and expressions of best wishes for happy terms of office for those installed by members of the Guardian Council.

Mrs. N. M. Anker was at Eldridge the past few days, visiting the family of her brother-in-law.

READING BY MISS KAISER CULTUS CLUB'S ENTERTAINMENT

Miss Laura Kaiser delighted Cultus Club members and guests with readings of various chapters from "This Life I've Loved," by Isabelle Field, and interesting notes linking main episodes of the captivating history, at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Caroline Prather last evening. Impressions of the author's first meeting with Robert Louis Stevenson at the French village of Grez in 1876, when she was very young and known as Belle Osbourne, were fascinatingly told. In the late seventies, at the age of 18, she was married to Joe Strong, also an artist. Description of their work and life in San Francisco, where they lived on New Montgomery street, the Bohemian life there, intimate details about kindnesses of friends, joy in the birth of her son, Austin, and tales of the Chinese boys who acted as nursemaid, formed an entrancing chapter.

Going to Hawaii in the eighties they witnessed customs, dress and social functions in their true native aspect. Ruling King Kalkaua and Queen Emma, widow of another king, were in constant rivalry for power. The writer received the distinguished honor of having the Star of Oceania bestowed upon her by the former. Austin, then aged six, also found the islands an enchanting place for he was given all sorts of privileges on board the men-of-war, particularly the U. S. S. Adams, whose crew made him a favorite and outfitted him with white and blue uniforms. He wore his cap at the same angle as that of his idol, the captain, who allowed him on the bridge and use of his spy glass. He even was given a whistle which, when blown on shore, brought a boat to call for him!

Description of the harbor of Apia in Australia, and narrative of life at the British island of Upolu in Samoa concluded the reading. Tropical beauty of the latter place, especially the plantation of Vailima, meaning five rivers, was charmingly told. Here the influence of Stevenson seemed to dominate life from the viewpoint of the author. Second marriage of the writer was to Salisbury Field. Miss Kaiser injected zest to the presentation by virtue of having this summer visited the island scenes recreated. She stood before an appropriate background of fern and bamboo while addressing the group, with leis and grass skirts as part of the setting. Mrs. Barbara Taylor, program chairman, complimented the speaker by presenting her a lovely bouquet of sweet peas.

In keeping with the theme of the evening were delicious refreshments featuring pineapple dessert. Pastel tinted sweet peas in a large white bowl centerpieced a large table at one end of the dining room, while smaller tables were graced by fragrant violets. Special guests were Mesdames W. H. Wadsworth, Louise Bernhard, Will Van Dyke, C. J. Beckley, Charles M. Fulkerson and Ina Eversole; and the Misses Joan Fraser and Louise McDonald.

GUEST FROM SOUTH

Mr. and Mrs. Mark A. Carpenter drove to San Francisco the end of the week to meet Mr. Carpenter's stepmother, Mrs. Grant Carpenter of Los Angeles, who was visiting relatives in the bay area. She returned to Ukiah with them and was a guest at their home until her return south yesterday.

A. & J. CLUB

Members of A. & J. Club were guests of Mrs. K. N. Hengeveld at a delightful afternoon gathering Wednesday of last week.

ADDRESS ON POETRY

"Poems I Have Loved" formed the interesting subject of an address by Mrs. Julia Shinn who was honored Thursday at a luncheon by the Ladies Presbyterian Society of which she was a member for many years before moving to Niles. From the first prayer, "Now I Lay Me," of childhood, through Mother Goose days, the McGuffey reader, Longfellow, Keats, Shelley, Scott, Browning, Tennyson's Idylls and The Rubaiyat, which succeeded each other in her favor, she arrived at a taste for the verses of Leigh Hunt, Blanco White and Edna St. Vincent Millay, quoting from each. Lines were read from Stephen Vincent Benet which gave colorful portrayals of Civil War days as contrast to several delightful nonsense poems concluding the program. The address was given in the church hall, beautifully decorated with masses of tall woodwardia fern and toyon berries. Preceding the talk a turkey luncheon was served in another room where four long tables were spread with lace cloths over green, lighted by green tapers in silver candlesticks, and adorned with spring-like bouquets of narcissus, marigolds and roses. Hostesses were Mrs. George Anderson, Mrs. C. W. Bradford and Mrs. Max Stowe. Mrs. Shinn was awarded the prize in the crossword puzzle contest conducted by Mrs. Stowe and involving books of the Bible. Devotional service was led by Mrs. Richard A. Van der Las. Mrs. C. S. Myszka directed unison singing of "America The Beautiful," and presented two beautiful solos of "Lullaby" and "A Shepherd's Song." Mrs. L. A. Elmore, of Berkeley, a past member of the group and a very enthusiastic worker, was accorded a hearty welcome as a special guest.

HERE FROM FRESNO

William O. White was a guest at the home of his mother, Mrs. Fannie White, over the weekend, having been sent from Kings River fish hatchery near Fresno to pick up equipment at Cold creek for use at Bass Lake, where he will be stationed the next three months. Floods at Fresno have caused a temporary cessation in hatchery activities there.

Mrs. White also enjoyed a 10-day visit from her son and his wife during the holidays.

DINE BEFORE INSTALLING

Cornelia Rebekah Lodge enjoyed a most festive evening for its first meeting of the year Monday evening, when officers were installed. Members of the order gathered for a delightfully appointed dinner in the banquet room of The Maple Cafe prior to the meeting. Mrs. Beatrice Sweet was general chairman of the affair and decorations were prettily carried out under supervision of Mrs. Bessie Jamison. Ceremonies of investiture of office were performed later in the evening at Odd Fellows hall with District Deputy President Elizabeth Gowan of Redwood Rebekah Lodge No. 380 at Anderson Valley, as installing officer. New officers are Mrs. Opal Burke, Noble Grand; Mrs. Grace Williams, Vice Grand; Mrs. George Miller, Secretary; Mrs. Beatrice Sweet, Financial Secretary; Mrs. Katherine Sloper, Treasurer; Mrs. Eva Moore, Trustee.

GRANGE SOCIAL

Ukiah Grange enjoyed a varied program at its social gathering in Steiert hall Friday evening. "The Last Word," was beautifully read by Miss Laura Kaiser, "Entertaining The Minister" was wittily presented by Miss Jean Ford, songs by Helen Houdeshell were "Swiss Yodel" and "Little Green Valley" with guitar accompaniment by herself, and "A Thought for the New Year" was the seasonable recitation given by John Finne. Technicolor pictures of Alaska recently taken by Mr. Sprague completed the program. Assorted sandwiches and coffee were served by the evening committee comprising Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Banfill, Mr. and Mrs. Hanby Ford, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Holmes and George David. As customary C. A. Carlson provided music for dancing.

Installation of officers of Pomona, Ukiah and Redwood Valley Granges will be held January 28 in the spacious Redwood Valley Grange hall.

POSTPONE KOSMOS MEET

The Kosmos Club meeting originally scheduled for tomorrow afternoon has been postponed to Friday afternoon as a mark of respect for the late Percy W. Handy, city treasurer, whose funeral will be held Thursday.

L. O. O. M. INITIATES

Ukiah Lodge No. 1668, Loyal Order of Moose, will initiate a large class of condidates this evening, with the crack Santa Rosa Lodge degree team putting on initiatory work. Regional Director J. G. Isenhour, Membership Director J. G. Larrison, Deputy Supreme Dictator R. J. Salisbury and Vice-President J. Silva, of the California State Moose Association, will be in attendance, as well as members from Vallejo.

Since its reorganization in 1906 the order has scattered throughout the English-speaking world some 1700 lodges with an aggregate membership of over 500,000. Gross assets today total more than $40,000,000. The Moose fraternity has distributed more than $44,000,000 to its membership in sick and death benefits. It maintains "Mooseheart," a home and school representing a large investment, for dependent children of deceased members, and "Moosehaven," where dependent aged members and their wives may pass their declining days together.

FETE PHONE OPERATORS

By way of a deferred Christmas treat, Paul and Tom Poulos, proprietors of The Maple Cafe, will entertain operators of the local telephone exchange at two turkey dinners with all the fixings this week. These loyal public servants must, of necessity, share honors on two different occasions to allow communication (so smooth-running we have come to accept it, all too much for granted) to continue uninterrupted. This evening Mesdames Lucille Brown, Gail Hull, Ruth Carbine, Ardis Phillips and Miss Angela Frassinello will be the guests, and Saturday evening Mesdames Alice Andrews, Mamie Green, Marie Goudge, Stella Waugh and the Misses Gert McFarland and Margery Thornton will complete the honored group.

HOME AFTER HOLIDAY

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Steiert returned to their home north of town last week following a delightful New Year holiday with their daughters, Mrs. Paige Payne and Miss Pauline Steiert, of San Francisco.

Dolores Guidi Is Taken By Death

Dolores Guidi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Guidi, died in Sonoma county last week at the age of nine years. The body of the little girl was brought to Ukiah and buried yesterday from Cleland's Funeral Home. Rev. Adrian Sharkey officiating at the funeral. Universal sympathy is expressed for the bereaved parents.

RETURNING TO COLLEGE

Mrs. Frank F. Zeek motored to Berkeley today with her daughter, Miss Erma Zeek, who is returning to University of California, following the holiday vacation. Miss Evelyn Zeek resumed her studies in State Teachers College at San Francisco last week.

MONDAY SEWING CLUB

Eleven members of the Monday Sewing Club were guests at the home of Mrs. Florence Holmes Monday evening. They took great pleasure in composing a round-robin letter of cheer to Mrs. Leona Mazzoni, one of their members who is at Stanford-Lane Hospital recovering from a spinal operation. Miss Bernice Broaddus will entertain the club next week.

VISIT FROM DAUGHTER

Holiday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Moore were their daughter, Mrs. H. J. Colburn of Caspar, her son, H. J. Colburn, Jr., and daughter, Eva Lucille.

"Nerves" "NERVES" "Nerves"

Dr. Miles NERVINE "Did the work" says Miss Glivar WHY DON'T YOU TRY IT?

After more than three months of suffering from a nervous ailment, Miss Glivar used Dr. Miles Nervine which gave her such splendid results that she wrote us an enthusiastic letter.

If you suffer from "Nerves." If you lie awake nights, start at sudden noises, tire easily, are cranky, blue and fidgety, your nerves are probably out of order.

Quiet and relax them with the same medicine that "did the work" for this Colorado girl.

Whether your "Nerves" have troubled you for hours or for years, you'll find this time-tested remedy effective.

At Drug Stores 25c and $1.00.

WM. JAMES, OLD RESIDENT, DIES

War Veteran Succumbed Lately In Letterman Hospital

Special Correspondence of The Press

HOPLAND, Jan. 11. — Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Allen, of Modesto, called recently at the Salinger ranch on their way home from a visit to Fort Bragg. The visitors formerly owned the Salinger ranch and were well known here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Banks, of Ukiah, passed New Year in Berkeley and San Francisco, guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Buckman.

Won A Prize.

Miss Dorothy Ellis was agreeably surprised Sunday evening to hear her name mentioned over KLX as second prize winner in a weekly contest in which she wrote an eight-line toast to a street car conductor, the unknown hero. Miss Dorothy will receive a case of grape juice.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Salinger, of San Francisco, passed the weekend on their ranch property in McDowell Valley.

Renewed Friendship.

Mr and Mrs. Fred Abert, of San Rafael, were among the old home comers New Year's day, visiting among relatives and friends.

Mrs. Anna Brunzell and Wm. Dyker, of San Francisco, were recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Williams.

A Pioneer Freighter.

Jake Keithley, of Kelseyville, has sold his trucking service to Pacific Motor Transport Co. Jake has been a familiar figure in Hopland the past 50 years, hauling freight with a team when the toll road was first opened between Hopland and Lake county and continuing in the freight business up to the present time.

War Veteran Dies.

The San Francisco News of December 28 carried an account of the death of William James at Letterman Hospital. Mr. James was a former owner of the old McCauley ranch, northeast of Hopland, where he lived from 1927 to 1935, the place being now the property of Roy L. Pratt, of Piedmont. Mr. James was a member of Theodore Roosevelt's Rough Riders in Cuba, afterwards enlisting in the Philippine war. Before coming to Hopland he was a clerk for 15 years in the San Francisco postoffice. Many friends will learn with regret of his passing.

Died In Santa Cruz.

Word reached Hopland of the death of Mrs. George Prescott in a Santa Cruz hospital. Mrs. Prescott was 81 years old and a former resident of Hopland. Her death occurred prior to the holidays and is learned with regret by many old-time friends.

Back From Hospital.

Mrs. Harold Buckman, who has been seriously ill the past week in Healdsburg General Hospital, was able to return to her home here Friday afternoon, very much improved in health.

Are Welcomed Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sierck, who passed the last few years in the northern part of the state, recently returned to their home near here and are being welcomed back by relatives and many old-time friends.

Miss Beatrice Shimmin, of Ukiah, was a visitor Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Shimmin.

Undergoes Repairs.

Robert O'Day's place of business was closed during the week while the building was undergoing repairs.

Suffered By Storm.

During the recent high water, Rood's Store was a heavy loser, much of his stock floating down the river.

Entertained Club.

Mrs. Jacqueline Hetzel entertained her Bridge Club Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ruth Williams. This was the first meeting of the present social season. First prize at bridge was won by Mrs. Marie Lambert, booby falling to Mrs. Irma Patteson.

Was In Accident.

Wm. Rush, foreman of the highway service here, had the misfortune Tuesday to run his truck off the grade on the Lakeport highway, the truck turning over three times in its descent down the mountain. Fortunately Mr. Rush escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Birthday Observed.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Patteson and son attended a birthday dinner in Alexander Valley Sunday given in honor of Jim Patrick's eighty-fourth birthday. Mr. Patrick, for whom Jimtown was named, is Mr. Patteson's grandfather.

Put Town On Map.

Hopland's University of California All-American end, Perry Schwartz, playing his last and greatest game for his Alma Mater, provided the break in the game that led to the Bears' first touchdown and ultimate victory over Alabama in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena New Year's day.

What He Did.

The game had been rolling along and it was in the second quarter Perry Schwartz decided it was time for the Bears to bare their fangs and growl a bit. So the Hopland lad got busy. He went down field and as Moseley of Alabama snagged a punt, the big blonde cracked him down with a jolt that loosened every tooth in the south and, more important, jarred the pigskin from the receiver's arms. An alert Bear guard gathered the ball to his chest and California proceeded to turn on the heat! Downfield they went in a typical, steady California march with Bottari and Chapman ripping off consistent gains of four and five yards behind a line driving like locomotives. And, with the southern goal line only four yards away, Bottari sent his interference ahead while he skittered around the pile and off his blockers to score standing up.

"Went Out" Right.

And these Perry Schwartz-motivated points did the trick. What matter if later the Bears scored again, that they withstood the drives of the fighting Crimson Tide of Alabama—Hopland's California All-American had finished his career in a blaze of glory and brought a mythical national football title to the Old School!

Mrs. Mary McClellan was ill at her home the past week with a severe cold and her daughter, Mrs. Burt Lane, came from Calpella to nurse her.

STEELHEADS BITING IN COAST STREAMS—MANY GOOD CATCHES

(The Mendocino Beacon)

Seeing is believing, and we can definitely say steelhead season is here with a bang. Last week these fighting fish were being taken quite sparingly in the coast streams, and on Sunday it looked pretty bad for the fishermen, but yesterday—well Mickey Grant and Clyde Hopper went up on the Ten Mile and came home with four beauties weighing from 7½ to 10½ pounds. They were fresh and full of fight and Mr. Grant, a veteran fisherman, hooked one that was too much for him and as a result broke his pole above the reel lock. Sunday Mrs. B. P. Stuart landed a fine steelhead on the southfork of Ten Mile, and "Doc" Lane and Ed Melville also landed fish on the northfork of the same river. According to Mr. Grant the steelhead run is under way and so is good fishing.

Gaining Higher Heights

THE story is told by an aviator that once, during his course of training, he was compelled to effect a forced landing. His plane was wrecked and an investigation was held. Throughout the trying experience, there seemed to be much confusion and condemnation, but finally he was exonerated, and one of the superior officers said to him, "It is not the forced landings that count; it is how we rise and take off again." Afterward, as part of the discipline, he was compelled to repeat the full course. At first this was resented, but later he recognized that it was to his complete advantage, for in addition to the usual training, the extra months of practice and study gave him greater poise, knowledge, experience.

How many of us, in contact with fellow workers, with relatives and friends, and in daily endeavor to accomplish acceptable work in the world, often feel that we have failed, that we have fallen short of the high ideal which we have set for ourselves as a goal! Fear, doubt, discouragement, and injustice often seem to haunt our footsteps. Frustration and delay would baffle us. . . . Comparing our own progress with that of another, we may listen to the argument of defeat. And yet wherever we find ourselves, anywhere, in any place, Love can restore health, order, peace, and righteousness. God is Love always. He has never forsaken us. . . .

The understanding of spiritual law discloses the nothingness of so-called material law and its claims. Failure and disaster come from ignorance of God's law; while health, prosperity, and progress are manifested as one gains the knowledge of the universal, impartial law of good. God knows only good for His children. . . .

A little girl used to walk and play so heedlessly that she was constantly falling and hurting herself, with tears and fretfulness as the inevitable result. She was taught this verse from the Psalms (116:8): "For thou hast delivered my soul from death, mine eyes from tears, and my feet from falling." Her child-thought accepted this so simply and practically that she was healed, and thereafter her days were filled with unfettered activity.

No outlook can be so dreary, no situation so sad, but Truth can rescue us and lift us to higher heights, Mary Baker Eddy writes (Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures, p. 393): "Rise in the strength of Spirit to resist all that is unlike good. God has made man capable of this, and nothing can vitiate the ability and power divinely bestowed on man."

Serving God should be an inviting task attended by willing industry, happiness, and usefulness. It requires constant alertness and prayerful watching of our thinking, but this should be neither irksome nor distasteful. Doing good, loving God and man, is not a thankless, cheerless experience. On the contrary, and sometimes to our astonishment, we find a capacity for joy, talent, freedom, and self-respect that never was known while we were following the selfish, fearful, material round of thinking. Serving God includes finding and serving a truer, higher sense of selfhood; of seeing man as the son of God. As one serves God he sees disease, discord, hate, and all temptation to sin, as falsehoods—lies which argue for themselves alone. These subtle claims are fabrications of mortal mind, without power or reality. They never touch God's son—the real man.

Mrs. Eddy writes (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 126): "Who hath not learned that when alone he has his own thoughts to guard, and when struggling with mankind his temper, and in society his tongue? We also have gained higher heights; have learned that trials lift us to that dignity of Soul which sustains us, and finally conquers them; and that the ordeal refines while it chastens."

From the human standpoint alone does the struggle to be Christlike seem to meet with ridicule, frustration, or defeat. Yet all such experiences teach us to guard our thoughts, our tempers, our tongues. They teach us to live with people amiably; and through these lessons we may grow in grace. Every seeming fall is of value, if, because of it, we seek and find God, and thereby our true selfhood, and learn to express more love to our neighbor. It is satisfyingly sweet to "rise again, stronger than before the stumble," and to attain in some measure to that "dignity of Soul which sustains us, and finally conquests."—The Christian Science Monitor.

MRS. R. MAZZONI IS DOING NICELY

Reports from Stanford-Lane Hospital, San Francisco, state Mrs. Richard Mazzoni, who underwent a spinal operation last week, is showing signs of making a rapid recovery.

SUPERVISOR HERE

Supervisor Ed Haehl was up from Hermitage and reported he is slowly getting a semblance of good roads and bridges in his district, following the recent destructive storm.

True Courage

WHAT is courage? Many people like to be considered brave, but there is a difference between mere physical bravery and true courage. Alexander Pope, the renowned English poet, gives his concept of a brave man in these words: "A brave man thinks no one his superior who does him an injury; for he has it then in his power to make himself superior to the other by forgiving it." Oftentimes it takes courage to forgive an injury, but if the sense of forgiveness should be overshadowed by a belief in one's own superiority, the act of forgiving could in no wise be termed courageous. It certainly would fall far short of the standard set by Christ Jesus, who said (Matthew 5:44), "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you." This admonition calls for true courage, for it requires humility and selflessness to meet its requirements.

Christ Jesus was the most courageous man that ever walked the earth because he was the meekest and most selfless. Never did he hesitate to say or do what he knew to be right, and always his speech and actions were prompted by unselfed love. He rebuked sinners unhesitatingly, and he sacrificed his human sense of life to show them the way of salvation. His ministry of healing and teaching stands for all time as the acme of selfless devotion to sin-burdened and suffering humanity. He was absolutely convinced of the truth of all that he said and taught, and neither threats nor efforts to destroy him could swerve him from his convictions or make him fearful. He urged his followers to do as he did, and thereby earned the hatred of selfish materialists. He knew, however, that immeasurable blessings would flow to all who should courageously and understandingly obey his admonitions.

In the world today there are many millions of professed Christians, but alas, too much diversity of opinion concerning the teachings and works of the master Christian. Why should this be so when Jesus so clearly mapped out the course to be taken by his true followers? They were to do the works that he did—works of healing as well as regenerating; they were to practice self-denial; they were to promote love and peace throughout the world; and they were in all circumstances to put their trust, not in material things, but in God. And, said he (Matthew 7:20), "By their fruits"—their accomplishments along such lines—"ye shall know them." . . .

Courage of the right sort is sorely needed in the world today, the moral courage to subdue self, to be humble, pure-minded, free from resentment, ready to return good for evil. Such courage is a rebuke to animal courage, of which there is a superfluity. Concerning this, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, states in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (pp. 28, 29): "There is too much animal courage in society and not sufficient moral courage. Christians must take up arms against error at home and abroad. They must grapple with sin in themselves and in others, and continue this warfare until they have finished their course. If they keep the faith, they will have the crown of rejoicing."

This much-to-be-desired crown should not be considered as something to be hoped for in some future existence, but as a joyous sense of harmony and spiritual dominion to be striven for and attained here and now. It requires real courage to win and wear this crown, courage to stand firmly on the side of Principle against selfish desires, and oftentimes against the scoffs of sinners. . . .

There is nothing more ennobling than courageously forsaking material beliefs for spiritual understanding, for this transition requires humility and unselfed love. Also, it affords deep satisfaction to know that whatever is accomplished through courage born of unselfed love, blesses not only the individuals directly concerned, but, in some degree, all mankind as well.—The Christian Science Monitor.

OLD SHERWOOD VALLEYITE IS WOODS' VICTIM

Byron Potter, For A Long Time Sherwood Man, Hurt

INJURIES DANGEROUS

Belief Is That Lung Piercing Of Logger Is Fatal

has been visiting his old home for several months and who was leaving for his home near Winnemucca, Nevada.

To Handle Affair.

The Willits Lions Club will sponsor the President's Ball Saturday night, January 29, and has invited all the rest of the civic societies to join with them. The ball will be held at the Park pavilion and Dr. R. B. Smalley has been appointed chairman.

With The Sick.

At Howard Memorial Hospital last week Mrs. Leslie Holgate gave birth to a baby boy January 3. Theo. McLean, of Lakeport, is receiving medical care for an acute case of pneumonia. Mrs. Blanche Robinson, who underwent a major operation last week is reported doing nicely. Mrs. Audrey Garrett was brought here from Talmage the first of the week in the hospital ambulance. She is a nurse at the State Hospital and fell while taking decorations from a Christmas tree and received spinal injuries and fractured arm when she fell from a high stepladder.

R. C. McCarty, of Long Valley, has taken delivery of an International truck through Rogers Garage. Mr. McCarty is a recent arrival from San Francisco and has purchased a ranch in that section and is very much pleased with Mendocino county.

To Play Cards.

The Catholic Ladies will give another series of card parties at Hotel Willits starting Monday night, January 17. They will also give a dance at the same place on the 15th. Good music is promised and the admission will only be 75 cents per couple.

All Goes Well.

Bud Harwood, proprietor of Laytonville Inn, was here this week and reports his hotel business as flourishing. He has already made arrangements to build an up-to-date service station on his property and in addition to this will erect eight more cottages in the auto camp which he will conduct in connection with his hotel.

Are Keeping Together.

The Willits Townsend Club reports having had a very prosperous year and is planning social activities for this year. At the last meeting Harvey Reynolds was elected president, W. H. Foord vice president, John Bush secretary-treasurer.

Bey Barnwell has returned from a month's visit in Nebraska where he visited relatives and friends.

Mrs. Bessie McCarthy arrived from her home in Los Angeles a few days ago and is visiting her sister, Mrs. Nora Gustafson.

Veterans Name Officers.

Redwood Empire Camp, Spanish-American War Veterans, held its annual meeting here Saturday at the W. I. Clubhouse and elected and installed the following officers for the current year: John Toth, commander; Will Marvin, senior vice-commander; Axel Gilberg, junior vice-commander; Fred Carrier, officer of the day; Fred Kirkbride, officer of the guard; Frank Harmon, trustee; O. O. Butcher, adjutant; Herman Pflitsch, quartermaster; Fred Carrer, patriotic instructor; Arthur Howe, chaplain and historian; L. H. Young, senior color bearer; Harry Burke, junior color bearer.

Had A Banquet.

Following the meeting and installation the assemblage adjourned to the Crystal Cafe where a turkey banquet with all the trimmings awaited them, also the ladies, and amidst the good cheer there was the usual spellbinding.

Was Installing Officer.

Past Commander O. O. Butcher was installing officer and Charles Melville, of Fort Bragg, acted as master of ceremonies. Among outsiders present were County Clerk H. M. Burke of Ukiah, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harmon of Hopland and Charles Melville of Fort Bragg.

Weather Is Fine.

Judge W. J. Woodruff was down from Laytonville yesterday and was bragging about the salubrious climate they are now having in Long Valley this winter. He even said he picked ripe tomatoes in his garden and had them for both Christmas and New Years. Southern California and Florida have nothing on Long Valley this winter.

Was Fatally Hurt.

Byron Potter, a former well known resident of the Sherwood Valley section, was perhaps fatally injured when a large limb pierced his left lung while working in the Ten Mile woods last Friday. Mr. Potter has been a woodsman all his life and was employed by the Union Lumber Company. Reports have it he had just fallen a large tree when the accident took place and that a broken limb flew back with the above result. He was taken to Redwood Coast Hospital, Fort Bragg, and small hopes are held for his recovery. He has a wife and four small girls.

To Manage Store.

Cliff Iversen took charge of the Sprouse Reitz store the first of the month and Tom Myers is now driving the Willits-Piercy stage. Mr. Iversen has the contract for operating the stage line between Willits and South Fork and his contract expires next summer.

At Highway School.

Fred Hamilton is attending the highway patrol training school at Sacramento and expects to be away two weeks. Officer Sam Shortridge will patrol Officer Hamilton's route in addition to his own in the meantime. Ordinarily Patrol Officer Clancio would have taken over a portion of this route but he is now kept busy at the Ukiah office attending to auto license business. F. Bingham, another representative of the highway patrol office, now passes every Thursday in Willits issuing driver's licenses and makes his headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. On those months that have a fifth Thursday Mr. Bingham visits Covelo for the same purpose.

Mr. and Mrs. Harl Roberts are passing the week in San Francisco.

To Operate Shovel.

Chas. Ellison has gone to Nashmead to run the railroad gas shovel during the absence of the regular operator. The high water washed the banks of the railroad track very badly and a fill with rip-rap will be used to protect it.

Is Relief Agent.

Jim Carey came up from Pittsburg to take charge of the local express office during John Bondeson's sickness. The doctor ordered Mr. Bondeson to stay in bed a week in order to get rid of a bad cold which threatened to turn into pneumonia. Mr. Carey used to be the local express agent and he was ordered to Willits from headquarters on account of his familiarity with local conditions and at the Pittsburg office Mr. Carey has an understudy who can handle that work.

Mrs. E. M. Fish has returned from a visit in southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hellesoe are visiting relatives and friends at Monterey.

RADIO REPORT SHOCKED HER

Murderous Attack On Woman Friend Is Broadcast News

Special Correspondence of The Press

REDWOOD VALLEY, Jan .10.—A surprise party was given Alex Kauhanen Wednesday evening by his Finnish friends. About 50 gathered at his new home which is on the former property of Mrs. Minnie Belveal but now belongs to Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Smith, who have moved to Talmage where both have positions at the State Hospital.

Now In Hopland.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Rutler have moved to Hopland where Mr. Rutler has the position as foreman of the section on the railroad.

Here From Berkeley.

Mrs. Josephine Lewis and son, Pat, of Berkeley, were recent weekend guests of Rev. and Mrs. Eugene H. Benson north of Ukiah, also passing a few days with Mrs. Lewis' sister, Mrs. Van Voorhies in Rewood Valley.

Rev. E. Holland, of Ukiah, will preach at the clubhouse Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Married In Ukiah.

Mary Orr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Orr, and William Palmer, son of D. Palmer were married in Ukiah Saturday morning. Miss Orr has lived in Redwood Valley most of her life and graduated from Redwood Valley school with the class of '37 and has been a student at Ukiah high school. Mr. Palmer is associated with his father at the head of the valley where the young people will make their home.

Mrs. Emma Myers has been confined to her home with illness several days. She is being cared for by Mrs. G. Booth.

June Elliott has been ill with influenza the past week but is steadily improving.

Officers Are Named.

At the C. S. S. A. Thursday afternoon there was election of officers. Mrs. Harry Reilly was named president to succeed Mrs. Roy Nissen, Mrs. R. Yarbrough vice-president, Miss Ethel Hargreaves secretary and Mrs. T. Gullickson treasurer.

Tommy Jameson has been ill with influenza the past week.

Heard Of Tragedy.

Mrs. Ernest Kern was shocked Friday evening while listening to the radio broadcast of the news when the murderously mysterious happening to Mrs. Elsie Hannon which occurred Thursday night at her San Anselmo home, was broadcast. Mrs. Hannon was found Friday slumped in a closet of her room. She apparently had been beaten into a semi-conscious condition. She was taken to the hospital where her condition was reported critical.

Mrs. Hannon is a beauty salon operator in San Anselmo. She with Mrs. Kern's daughter, Elsie Winroth, enjoyed Christmas at the Kern home.

SECURITY LEAGUE

American Security League will meet at the grammar school Saturday evening at 7:30. The public will be extended a cordial welcome. Purpose of the league is to earmark sales tax for pensions of elderly people within the state, and has already been endorsed by 11 counties. A proposed plan will be presented at Saturday's meeting.

HAS PENUMONIA

Harry Hilts has been very ill with pneumonia the past week. When the Wattenburg fire occurred it was necessary to take Mr. Hilts from his bed and remove him from the vicinity of the burning building. Dr. E. C. Bennett is attending Mr. Hilts.

PERSONAL MENTION

Russell Ells, road contractor who recently completed a stretch of highway in the Rockport-Leggett Valley district, was in town a few hours Saturday to make a final check with County Engineer Ed. Smith.

"Dick" Mazzoni passed most of last week in San Francisco where he was at the bedside of his wife, who is recovering satisfactorily from a spinal operation at Stanford-Lane Hospital.

Dr. Raymond A. Babcock, head of Howard Memorial Hospital and regarded generally as Mendocino county's most useful citizen, was a Ukiah caller Thursday.

Paul G. Jasper, chairman of the State Highway Commission, stopped off on his way to Fortuna yesterday to chat a few minutes with A. R. O'Brien.

Mrs. G. W. Stout returned to her home on Pine street early last week, following a visit with her sister, Dr. Susan Hamilton, of San Francisco.

Attorney and Mrs. W. P. Thomas were passengers for San Francisco Tuesday afternoon and remained in the city until the last of the week.

Mrs. George Poor, teacher in the schools at Hopland, was in Ukiah last Saturday.

Grant Vassar, well known rancher of Long Valley, was here Wednesday.

BOUGHT APARTMENTS

It is reported Harry Pressley has completed a deal whereby he has acquired the Williams Apartments on North State street.

Wore Prince Alberts

In the "nifty nineties," most United States senators wore Prince Alberts. The frock coat was a symbol of statesmanship and a beard was the mark of a man of maturity and substance.

Used Cave for Glass Work

The first glass maker in Scotland was George Hay (1566-1625). He took advantage of a peculiarly formed cave at Wemyss, on the Fife coast, and set up his furnace therein.

The Assurance of Peace

PEACE is the perfect gift of our heavenly Father to all His children. Prophecy and revelation unite in bringing to mankind, torn with tumult and strife, the blessed assurance of peace. The prophet Isaiah had a glorious vision of the reign of peace in the hearts of men as the enlightenment of Truth is received into human consciousness. In the thirty-second chapter of the book it is written, "And the work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness quietness and assurance for ever." "The work of righteousness" is not dependent on time. Truth is always present everywhere. We are persuaded, therefore, that peace is possible to everyone who lays hold upon righteousness. The earnest seeker for Truth is assured of peace, for it is the natural accompaniment of the right understanding of God.

Isaiah foretold the coming of the Messiah, "the Prince of Peace," and in conformity with this prophecy, the Bethlehem babe appeared. The heavenly host, accompanying the angel who came to the shepherds on this momentous occasion, sang this paean of praise (Luke 2:14), "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." This was revelation, indeed, bringing heaven to earth.

The salvation wrought by Christ Jesus in his healing ministry assuredly brought peace to troubled hearts bereft of loved ones, oppressed by disease and sin, under the tyranny of traditional laws, and bound by baseless creeds and cruel codes. Jesus' understanding of the omnipresence of God invested the spoken word with power, and multitudes were restored to health and freedom. Great peace and joy followed, and God was glorified; and so it will ever be. Whenever the Father is understandingly honored and His commandments kept, peace attends.

Mortal strife is due wholly to ignorance of God and His creation. Mortal existence is a mistaken sense of Life. God, and of Life's idea, man and the universe. In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes (p. 329), "If men understood their real spiritual source to be all blessedness, they would struggle for recourse to the spiritual and be at peace." The greater part of humanity is seeking peace. Multitudes are on the quest for that which will satisfy their highest concept of good. It is a lamentable fact, however, that many are seeking respite from the unrest of mortal beliefs in material theories and practices. The sick are still searching for relief in ways and means devised by the human mind, ignorant of the fact that false mortal beliefs have occasioned their seeming sickness, and not perceiving the futility of material methods to bring deliverance and peace.

But the Christ Truth, is ever at hand, ready to enter human consciousness, when one is willing to turn toward the Father-Mother God. The message is always reassuring. After his glorious resurrection Christ Jesus reappeared to the disciples, presenting the same body that he had before the crucifixion, thus proving life to be continuous. His loving words to them, "Peace be unto you," brought the assurance of eternal Life and Love, the primal and ultimate order of being. Live is evidenced in harmonious activity. Likewise, through spiritual peace we are assured of the continuity of life.

War and strife, sickness and death, bear no evidence of Life, God. They are negative states of ignorance, indications of a lack of the understanding of God and of man's harmonious relationship to Him. Furthermore, an indifferent or merely neutral state of mind, is not based upon understanding, and engenders a false sense of peace. Ignoring or condoning faults in individuals or in groups of people and nations, is not promotive of security and peace, which go hand in hand. Selfishness and intense nationalism are foes to the peace and progress of mankind. They arise from the false belief that man's existence is dependent upon matter. This belief is entirely at variance with Scriptural authority, which reveals man's spiritual origin and nature, and with divine law, which governs individuals and nations.

The words of Mrs. Eddy in Science and Health (p. 96) give a clear sense of man's scientific unity with God, and the consequent immunity from evil, disease, and inharmony which may be realized by all. She says: "This material world is even now becoming the arena for conflicting forces. On one side there will be discord and dismay; on the other side there will be Science and peace." May we ever remember with gratitude the ever-presence of Spirit, where love, joy, and peace forever abide and abound.—The Christian Science Monitor.
